

Western Sydney Budget Statement

2000-01

New South Wales

FOREWORD

This year the NSW Government delivers another record level of funding for Western Sydney. We are increasing our spending to Western Sydney in 2000-2001 to more than $4 billion to support families and communities, stimulate jobs and investment, and help make the region's environment cleaner.

Western Sydney is made up of 14 Local Council areas, 1.7 million people and 72,000 firms, and is growing rapidly. Businesses, Local Councils, community organisations and the State Government need to keep working together if this growth is to be sustainable and benefit all people in the region.

The State Government is doing its part. This Budget funds education, health, police and other government services. The Government continues its job-creating investments in economic and social infrastructure, and training to address the skill shortages in the region. And we continue to assist Local Councils, communities and industry to improve the region's environment.

Highlights of expenditure on capital and recurrent programs in this year's Western Sydney Budget Statement include:

- ◆ $1.7 billion for Western Sydney schools and TAFE Colleges
- ◆ $1.2 billion for new and ongoing health services in the region
- ◆ $290 million on Western Sydney public transport and roads
- ◆ $261 million for housing, family, child and community support services
- ◆ $218 million for police and public safety in Western Sydney, and
- ◆ $121 million for regional Parks, water, waste and other environmental initiatives.

I am delighted to present, on behalf of the State Government, the 2000-2001 Western Sydney Budget Statement.

The Statement shows that we will continue to work in partnership with business, Local Councils and communities to make Western Sydney a stronger, fairer and more dynamic region.

Kim Yeadon MP
Minister for Western Sydney
Member for Granville

TABLE OF CONTENTS

Chapter 1:	Introduction	1
Chapter 2:	Minister for Western Sydney	3
Chapter 3:	Funding for Western Sydney 2000-01	5
3.1	Securing jobs and investment in Western Sydney	5
	Public Infrastructure	7
	State and Regional Development	10
	Tourism	10
	Skills development and resources	10
	Information Technology	11
	Agriculture	12
	Energy Exploration	12
3.2	Supporting families and communities	13
	Health	13
	Drug and Alcohol Services	16
	Education and Training	17
	Women	18
	Services for children and families	19
	Services for older people and people with special needs	20
	Aboriginal People	21
	The Casino Community Benefit Fund	22
	Housing	22
	Sport and Recreation	23
	Public Safety	23
	Corrective Services	24
	Supporting cultural diversity	24
	Arts	25
	Community Development	25
3.3	Protecting the environment	25
	Clean Air and Clean Waterways	26
	Parks, Gardens, Reserves and Forests	29
	Heritage	31
	Waste Management	32
	Mine Rehabilitation	32
3.4	Better Government services	33
	Premier's Department	33
	Fair Trading and consumer protection	34
	Emergency Services	35
	Industrial Relations	36
	Justice	36
	Survey Services	36
	Transport	36
	WorkCover	36
Chapter 4:	Olympics Budget – Western Sydney	37
Chapter 5:	Outcomes of 1999-2000 Budget Initiatives	40

CHAPTER 1: INTRODUCTION

The New South Wales Government has a strong focus on Western Sydney. It has a strategic approach to policy and programs for the West and is working in partnership with business, industry, Local Government, the community and key regional groups to improve business, and the quality of life for people living and working in this dynamic region.

Western Sydney covers 14 local government areas over some 8,000 square kilometres. It encompasses the local government areas of Auburn, Bankstown, Baulkham Hills, Blacktown, Blue Mountains, Camden, Campbelltown, Fairfield, Hawkesbury, Holroyd, Liverpool, Parramatta, Penrith and Wollondilly.

The Statement is not a description of every Government initiative which will impact on Western Sydney in 2000-2001, nor is it a complete list of the programs or funding which will be delivered in the region. Rather, it provides an outline of the key programs and priorities for Western Sydney in the coming financial year. Funding allocations specifically to be spent in Western Sydney are indicated in bold type.

The objectives of the Statement are to provide a picture of key Government programs in Western Sydney and to assist Government agencies and the people of Western Sydney to assess program and service priorities across the region.

Office of Western Sydney

Western Sydney
by Local Council Area

0 15 30
Kilometres

CHAPTER 2: MINISTER FOR WESTERN SYDNEY

In 1997, the Government appointed a Minister for Western Sydney and established an Office of Western Sydney. The Office of Western Sydney works with businesses, industry associations, the three levels of Government, the University of Western Sydney, community organisations and other key institutions within and outside Western Sydney as part of a coherent strategy to assist the economic, social and environmental development of the region. The Office reports to the Minister for Western Sydney and forms part of the New South Wales Department of Information Technology and Management. The Government will fund the operations of the Office of Western Sydney to the extent of $1.4 million in 2000-2001. The Office is located on the Westmead Campus of the University of Western Sydney and in the Macarthur area at Campbelltown.

The Office of Western Sydney is a dynamic, innovative government agency providing regional leadership across Western Sydney. The key roles of the Office of Western Sydney are to achieve significant improvements in the economic performance, social development and urban livability of Western Sydney. The Office provides strategic advice to Government on Western Sydney issues. It works with business, local government, State government agencies and other key organisations to secure jobs and investment, support families and communities, protect the environment, and deliver better government services. Initiatives of the Office of Western Sydney for 2000-2001 include:

- ◆ The Western Sydney Jobs Plan brings together Government agencies including the Departments of State and Regional Development, Urban Affairs and Planning, Industrial Relations, Education and Training, NSW Tourism and the Office of Western Sydney. The plan aims to bring sustainable, quality jobs to the region by: creating partnerships with industry to stimulate investment and employment opportunities; assisting business by cutting red tape; delivering better urban planning and infrastructure; promoting innovation; and expanding education and training opportunities.
- ◆ The Western Sydney Industry Awards are an outstanding example of State Government-business collaboration. The Awards target industries which are critical to the growth and economic development of Western Sydney. They focus on innovation, Information Technology and export performance - all key drivers of growth in advanced economies - to generate jobs and investment in Western Sydney. The inaugural Awards were held in 1999.
- ◆ Corporate Partners for Change was specifically designed to help unemployed young people into work by linking training and jobs. This initiative is supported by major industry and business associations, which offer jobs, traineeships and apprenticeships to young people in Western Sydney. Corporate Partners for Change was developed by the Office of Western Sydney with funding by the Department of Education and Training. The Office of Western Sydney works with firms to develop accredited pre-vocational training courses tailored to meet industry needs. In return, young people are trained in accredited pre-vocational training.

- ◆ Information Technology Initiatives. As a result of a conference titled Advancing Information Technology in Western Sydney Industry, organised by the Office of Western Sydney in November 1999, a number of IT initiatives for the region are proceeding. These are:
 - IT Forum with Western Sydney Local Councils. The Forum, to be held in July 2000, is the first IT Forum of local councils in Australia that is strategically targeted to accelerating the IT agenda at a regional level. The Forum will aim to: enhance Councils' understanding of the strategic directions in IT in government and industry; explore best practice models for IT application in Councils, such as e-commerce/electronic service delivery/integrated land and property information, leading to improved levels of service delivery; and investigate opportunities to progress some aspects of the IT agenda in a collaborative way.
 - Development of an IT Directory for Western Sydney. The Directory will showcase/promote Western Sydney IT businesses and skills providers and encourage other businesses, both within and outside Western Sydney, to use their products and services.
 - Technology Diffusion. A pilot regional program, bringing together 10 to 15 leading edge manufacturing businesses with major IT companies will explore the potential for increased integration of IT into corporate strategy and business operations to enhance global competitiveness.
 - Establishment of an IT Cluster of Western Sydney IT businesses. This will enable synergies/partnerships/joint ventures to develop between IT businesses in the region. It will also act as a focal point for Western Sydney small to medium sized IT businesses, to identify those government agencies, venture capitalists/businesses and major IT companies who could play a role in helping the IT sector to grow.
- ◆ The Environment Strategy for Western Sydney was launched by the Minister for Western Sydney in November 1999 at Campbelltown. It was developed in collaboration with the University of Western Sydney, the Environment Protection Authority, TeamWest and key government, community and industry stakeholders. It provides an integrated approach to the region's environment and helps maximise the effectiveness of existing programs and encourages government, industry, researchers and the community to work together for the good of the environment in Western Sydney.
- ◆ The Western Sydney Arts Strategy was launched by the Minister for Western Sydney in November 1999 at Campbelltown. This is a joint initiative with the NSW Ministry for the Arts. The Strategy sets out priorities for the next three to five years to capitalise on the existing extensive cultural activity in Western Sydney, to build on increases already made in government support, and achieve a more equitable distribution of resources and energy across the region while giving expression to local differences. Some $1.4 million is committed to the strategy over three years.
- ◆ Initiatives for Women in Western Sydney. In 1999, the Government established the Initiatives for Women Project in Western Sydney, a joint venture between the Office of Western Sydney and the Department for Women to improve opportunities for women.
- ◆ Other Initiatives include the development of the NSW Government Response to the TeamWest Greater Western Sydney Regional Agenda; the preparation of the Western Sydney Budget Statement; and the production of the Government's Progress Report on its pre-election commitments on Western Sydney.

Further details of the Office of Western Sydney initiatives are available on the website www.westernsydney.nsw.gov.au

CHAPTER 3: FUNDING FOR WESTERN SYDNEY FOR 2000-01

The New South Wales Government initiatives for Western Sydney are presented in sections focusing on four key priority areas for the region:

- ◆ securing jobs and investment;
- ◆ supporting families and communities;
- ◆ protecting the environment; and
- ◆ better Government services.

The initiatives outlined provide an indicative rather than an exhaustive list of all programs and expenditure which will impact on Western Sydney in 2000-2001.

3.1 SECURING JOBS AND INVESTMENT IN WESTERN SYDNEY

The health of the New South Wales economy is based on a large part on the vitality of the Western Sydney economy. Western Sydney is one of the nation's economic powerhouses and is home to more than 1.7 million people and 72,000 businesses that produce goods and services worth around $54 billion annually. If Western Sydney were a separate region, it would be the third largest regional economy in Australia outside the rest of Sydney and Melbourne. It is one of the fastest growing regions in Australia. Nationally, nearly one-in-ten Australians live in the region. Around one-third of the region's population is under 19 years of age. It has a strong representation of Aboriginal and Torres Strait Islander people and a large proportion of people from a non-English speaking background. One of the region's strengths is its flexible, skilled multi-cultural workforce.

The need for an increased availability of jobs for the people of Western Sydney, especially its young people, is of paramount importance to the Government. Latest figures indicate that since March 1995, employment growth in the region has been strong through the generation of more than 166,000 new jobs - up 32 per cent from 514,000 to some 680,000 today. These jobs are in a broad range of industries, including agriculture, manufacturing, pharmaceuticals, tourism, retail, finance and business services. The Government is also attracting new and emerging industries to Western Sydney by encouraging innovation, through initiatives such as the Western Sydney Industry Awards. These industry sectors include biotechnology, telecommunications, medical research, high technology, waste management and agribusiness.

The Government's Western Sydney Jobs Plan is a whole of government approach to investment, infrastructure, innovation and training. Some of the core components of the plan are: the Central Western Sydney Economic and Employment Area which will generate more than 11,000 jobs and investment in the Blacktown, Holroyd and Fairfield areas; implementing the Parramatta Regional Environmental Plan to create some 35,000 jobs over 20 years; and meeting the current and future skills needs of commerce and industry in Western Sydney by better linking business labour market needs into the planning of major training bodies.

The State Government continues to directly assist employment by the location of its agencies in Western Sydney. Agencies with head offices in the region are the Department of Fair Trading, Landcom, the Office of State Revenue, the Heritage Office, the Aboriginal Housing Office and the Home Care Service of NSW (Parramatta), the NSW Rural Fire Service (Rose Hill), the Department of Housing (Liverpool), the Department of Local Government (Bankstown) and Integral Energy (Blacktown). The Government plans to relocate the Department of Sport and Recreation's Head Office and Sports House to Homebush Bay to consolidate the Olympic precinct as the 'home of sport' in New South Wales. In addition, more than 80 Sydney Catchment Authority staff are now located at the Penrith office. These significant employment bases generate additional work opportunities for other businesses in the communities and stimulate additional economic growth for the region.

State Government local offices located in Western Sydney to assist business in the region include NSW Agriculture, the Department of Community Services, the Department of State and Regional Development, the Roads and Traffic Authority, WorkCover, TAFE, the Department of Industrial Relations and the Department of Transport.

The development rate of tourism infrastructure projects in Western Sydney is among the most impressive in Australia, with more than $1 billion worth of new or improved tourism facilities approved or developed in the last year. These major projects, which include new international hotels and recreational facilities at Campbelltown, Liverpool, Penrith, Baulkham Hills, Homebush Bay, Bankstown and Rosehill, signal that the $1.7 billion a year regional tourism market is only now starting to reach its potential. The Western Sydney tourism industry currently generates 34,000 jobs. The world's attention on the Sydney Olympics and Paralympics, together with a strong promotion by Tourism NSW on Western Sydney tourism, will ensure an industry growth of 43 per cent and a labour market growth of 50 per cent between 1999 and 2005.

Details of the Olympic Budget are outlined in chapter 4 of this Statement. Significant employment and investment opportunities continue to be secured for Western Sydney through Olympic and Paralympic related capital works, transport and major events management initiatives. Over 40,000 workers have been inducted into Olympic construction programs at Homebush Bay. 2,000 contractors have been engaged, including 200 firms from regional NSW. The home of the Olympics has grown from a construction site to a major leisure, tourism and business destination. The number of visitors to Sydney's Olympic venues at Homebush Bay and Penrith Lakes is about to top 20 million since Sydney's successfully bid for the Games in September 1993. Homebush Bay is becoming Australia's biggest recreational playground. Of tourists who visit the Homebush Bay Visitors Centre, 30 per cent are from overseas with most coming from Asia and the United States, followed by Europe and New Zealand. The visitors centre at Homebush Bay attracts about 35,000 visitors every month and had its one-millionth visitor in March 2000. This increase in visitor numbers has encouraged a growth in the number of job opportunities. More than a thousand people are now employed on site in permanent and casual working roles other than construction. This is being mirrored throughout Western Sydney as more Olympic venues have opened.

Government programs, initiatives and services for which funding has been allocated in 2000-2001, and which will encourage investment and job creation in Western Sydney are outlined below.

Public Infrastructure

Government funding of major new and on-going capital infrastructure projects, complemented by private sector investment, is creating jobs in the region. An average of more than 3,000 jobs per year over four years are being generated in the construction sector by the investment of $12.1 billion on new infrastructure in Western Sydney for new and upgraded roads and rail, schools, hospitals and police facilities, water and sewer infrastructure and community facilities. The infrastructure includes the implementation of the Action of Transport 2010 plan which will deliver better passenger and freight transport links. Full details of the Government capital works can be found in Budget Paper No. 4. Major capital projects for agencies in 2000-2001 include:

Department of Corrective Services

New and expanded correctional facilities are being provided in Western Sydney in 2000-2001, at an estimated cost of $40.7 million. The facilities are: a Periodic Detention Centre and an expanded correctional centre at Parklea; a new correctional centre for women at Windsor; an upgraded facility for female inmates at Emu Plains; and a new Transport Unit at Silverwater.

Department of Education and Training

Over $45 million will be spent on the provision of major new and refurbished facilities for schools. New schools will be built at Glenmore Park, Kellyville, Mt Annan, Currans Hill, Harrington Park, Hoxton Park and Wattle Grove. Replacement schools will be constructed at Camden and Quakers Hill. In addition, an estimated $29 million will be expended on school building maintenance.

$12.1 million will be spent on the development and refurbishment of TAFE facilities at Bankstown, Campbelltown, Kingswood, Wetherill Park and Miller.

NSW Fire Brigades

2000-01 will see the finalisation of the $18 million program to build 12 new fire stations in Western Sydney. The new station at Bonnyrigg Heights will be completed in August 2000 and stations at Cranebrook, Schofields and Horsley Park are to be constructed at a cost of $1.5 million each. These four facilities will employ approximately 77 new firefighters with an overall annual recurrent expenditure estimated at $3.7 million. Funds have been provided for the construction of a new station at Glenhaven, subject to the acquisition of a suitable property.

NSW Health

Over $64.9 million is allocated for health related capital works in Western Sydney including facilities at Camden, Campbelltown, the Blue Mountains, Mt Druitt, Penrith and Westmead.

Department of Housing

In 2000-2001, the Government estimates that its expenditure for the construction or purchase of 287 new public and community housing properties in Western Sydney for eligible people on low incomes will be $28.6 million. A further $26 million will be allocated for the completion of properties commenced in 1999-2000. In addition, the Department will receive $62.5 million for capital improvements to 6,600 existing public and community homes. Total expenditure by the Department in Western Sydney will be $123.7 million.

Landcom

Landcom has entered into discussions with the Department of Urban Affairs and Planning to commit $23 million over a five year period to the implementation of water, sewer and trunk drainage infrastructure for the Rouse Hill residential land development. This contribution represents the catalyst for the development of the area.

Police Service

$1.4 million will be allocated in capital expenditure by the Police Service in 2000-2001 for new police training facilities at Westmead.

Department of Public Works and Services

The Department is continuing to co-ordinate the Parramatta Government Property Strategy, a whole-of-government asset and accommodation initiative designed to bring about the management, redevelopment and disposal of significant NSW Government land holdings in Parramatta. There are three key government sites in this Strategy, namely the Parramatta Hospital site, the Marsden Rehabilitation Centre and the North Parramatta Mixed Use precinct. The Strategy will move towards implementation and procurement throughout 2000-2001, with the restoration of the Old King's School building and occupation by the NSW Heritage Office. By 2010, the project will have provided 9,000 jobs in construction and allied industries at a value of $357 million, encompassing archaeology, heritage conservation, office and residential development, cultural facilities, riverfront pedestrian and cycle access, community health and justice services.

Roads and Transport

It is envisaged that more than $290 million will be spent on Western Sydney roads and public transport infrastructure in 2000-2001, including:

- ◆ $75.4 million for the Parramatta-Chatswood Rail Link;
- ◆ $43.5 million on construction of the Liverpool to Parramatta bus only Transitway;
- ◆ $9 million for Stage 2 of the Richmond Line amplification;
- ◆ More than $6 million to improve access to CityRail stations including Fairfield, Regents Park and Katoomba;
- ◆ $9 million to widen the Great Western Highway at Faulconbridge;
- ◆ $11 million to widen Old Windsor/Windsor Road from Seven Hills to Kellyville;
- ◆ $5.3 million to complete a new bridge for the Horsley Drive over the railway at Carramar;

- ◆ More than $40 million on road maintenance works;
- ◆ More than $15 million on traffic management works; and
- ◆ More than $3 million on road safety works.

The Government's commitment to invest an average of $160 million per annum for roads in Western Sydney and South Western Sydney will continue in 2000-2001.

Government Trading Enterprises and State owned Corporations

The Sydney Catchment Authority will continue the $150 million Warragamba Dam major upgrade in 2000-2001 with expenditure in the order of $36 million. The upgrade involves the construction of an auxiliary spillway to divert floodwaters around the dam to allow compliance with international dam safety standards. The major component of the project, involving a $90 million contract with the private sector, is on schedule for completion by December 2001. It is anticipated that the work will create employment opportunities for up to 175 construction workers.

In February 1997, the Government announced the Priority Sewerage Program of the Sydney Water Corporation. Under the program 3,400 homes will be connected to sewerage systems in the Hawkesbury-Nepean catchment. It is estimated that a total of $5.6 million will be expended in 2000-2001. Environmental Impact Statements were placed on display towards the end of last year for the Menangle/Menangle Park Sewerage Scheme, the Mulgoa, Wallacia, Silverdale Sewerage Scheme and The Oaks/Oakdale and Belimbla Park Sewerage Scheme. Approvals are currently being sought to proceed.

For example, The Oaks/Oakdale and Belimbla Park Sewerage Scheme is a $26.5 million scheme which will serve approximately 1,000 existing dwellings in the three villages which lie within Sydney's drinking water supply catchment. The target date for completion is 2002. Approximately $5.2 million will be spent in 2000-2001 on initiatives such as.

- ◆ Penrith Sewage Treatment Plant (STP) amplification. The amplification will service planned growth in the Penrith area and will involve substantial additional facilities being built at the STP. The overall project will also include the closure of Glenbrook STP which services the Lower Blue Mountains area. Flows will then be transferred from Glenbrook to the Penrith system at Emu Plains via the disused Glenbrook railway tunnel. These works are due for completion in 2003.
- ◆ Long-term objectives for the Parramatta River include no dry weather overflows from sewerage pumping stations and a frequency of wet weather overflows less than 40 events in 10 years. The reduction in overflows will work in conjunction with improvements to stormwater quality to improve the environment. An example is the Interim Infiltration/Exfiltration Program to rehabilitate sewer pipes to reduce dry and wet weather overflows. The program in Parramatta River involves rehabilitation work in nine separate catchments in Homebush Bay and Iron Cove costing approximately $42 million. The rehabilitation work involves inspection of private sewers to identify illegal connections and grouting and relining of sewer pipes.
- ◆ The $80 million Blue Mountains Sewerage Scheme project is being completed in two separate stages that will see approximately 3,270 lots provided with modern sewerage services. Work on Stage 1 of the scheme is well underway and will be completed by June 2001. The Environmental Impact Statement for the Upper Blue Mountains (Stage 2 of the scheme) was placed on public exhibition in late 1998 and the Representations Report is currently being prepared for submission to the Department of Urban Affairs and Planning.

Integral Energy has allocated $56 million for capital projects to enhance Western Sydney electrical infrastructure in 2000-2001. This State-owned corporation, located in Blacktown, retails and distributes electricity in Sydney's west and beyond to more than 720,000 households and businesses.

State and Regional Development

In 2000-2001, the Industries Assistance Fund will continue to provide support for businesses in Western Sydney that are expanding and creating new jobs. The Greater Western Sydney Economic Development Board will be funded by the Department of State and Regional Development to the extent of $200,000 to undertake projects in 2000-2001. The Board will continue to advise the Government on the economic development of Western Sydney. Projects will include the ongoing implementation of the Greater Western Sydney Industry Strategy, Call Centre promotions, maintenance of the Greater Western Sydney website, marketing of the region, maintenance of the Greater Western Sydney Trade and Investment Centre and production of the Quarterly Greater Western Sydney Economic Bulletin. The recommendations of the Import Replacement Analysis, conducted in 1999-2000 in the area of Agriculture, and the sponsorship of the Greater West Games, will also be considered in 2000-2001.

In addition, the Department of State and Regional Development will engage the Business Enterprise Centres at Blacktown, Campbelltown, Fairfield, Parramatta and Penrith at a cost of $75,000 each to provide small business services to those areas.

Tourism

The $13 million facelift for the historic Blue Mountains' town of Katoomba and the Echo Point lookout is proceeding with the Government committed to spending over $11 million up to 2002-2003. The redevelopment will further enhance Katoomba's tourism opportunities, potentially creating hundreds of new jobs. Up to 1.4 million tourists a year visit Echo Point, making it the most visited tourist site in the State. Tourism is worth about $339 million to the Blue Mountains, including $100 million for Echo Point and Katoomba alone. The Blue Mountains City Council will contribute up to $2 million to the redevelopment.

In 2000-2001 Tourism New South Wales will fund Western Sydney tourism development to the extent of $330,000.

Skills Development and Resources

Funding for the Western and South Western Sydney TAFE Institutes and the Bankstown, Padstow and Lidcombe colleges within the Southern Sydney TAFE Institute will support Institute profiles which reflect industry trends and customer needs. Total operating costs for these three Institutes in Western Sydney are forecast at around $252 million in 2000-2001.

An estimated $7 million will be available to support Industry Training Programs in Western Sydney during 2000-2001 through the various programs delivered by the Program Field units within the Department of Education and Training's Industry Training Services Centres located at Bankstown, Liverpool and Parramatta. The major roles of the Centres are to promote vocational education and training reform, skills formation, apprenticeships and traineeships, the strengthening of links with industry and the provision of advice on industry training needs.

Information Technology

The Office of Information Technology in the Department of Information Technology and Management co-ordinates the public sector's management and use of information technology and telecommunications. A number of whole-of-government information and communications technology programs will be conducted in 2000-2001 and will benefit all of New South Wales, including Western Sydney. These include:

- ◆ The Australian Centre for Advanced Computing and Communications, a commercial partnership between government, business, universities, and the leaders of the high performance computer industry –IBM, NEC, Silicon Graphics and Sun Microsystems. The centre will provide high performance computing tools to stimulate growth and development in industry, employment, research and education. $12 million has been allocated over 3 years (from 1999-2000 to 2001-2002) towards the establishment of the Centre with the first phase to be installed by July 2000 at the Australian Technology Park (ATP) in Sydney. High speed communication links between ATP, Newcastle, Wollongong and Bathurst will contain the initial industry nodes of the network followed in the next two years by Western Sydney, Central Coast and New England.
- ◆ The NSW Government's Homepage ServiceNSW (<http://www.nsw.gov.au>) provides useful and efficient access to government information and services and encourages the creation of employment and business opportunities. The range of information and services available from ServiceNSW will continue to expand with the focus being on aligning electronically delivered services with community and business needs and providing inter-active services such as the lodgement of forms and payments online. The 2000-2001 costs associated with ServiceNSW are met by individual agencies in developing and enhancing their websites.
- ◆ Connect.nsw is a whole of government strategy for the use of Information Technology to streamline internal government practices, reduce costs and improve service delivery for the NSW community. Implementation of connect.nsw is providing an integrated approach to the delivery of services over a wide range of service channels including over the counter, the Internet, e-mail and multimedia kiosk and call centres. State-wide funding of $10 million in 2000-2001 will be used to co-ordinate whole-of-government projects and fund selected agency projects that will deliver enhanced services to the community and business. Key projects include:
 - further development of the NSW Government Homepage www.nsw.gov.au including the delivery of all appropriate services electronically by the end of 2001;
 - continuing the roll-out of the Government Network Service to improve data communications services for agencies and the community; and
 - advancing the take-up of electronic commerce in the public and private sectors.
- ◆ The Government Radio Network is one of the largest mobile radio networks in the world, covering 150,000 square kilometres of NSW and processing over 5 million calls per month. The network provides improved radio services to support the delivery of emergency and administrative services to the community, including Western Sydney. $1.5 million will be spent in 2000-2001 State-wide, to continue the upgrade of the network.

Agriculture

NSW Agriculture's annual budget of $230 million benefits all of the State. The Department's focus on sustainability, meeting client and customer needs and making the State's agricultural industries more competitive, enriches the lives of all people in New South Wales. The research, advisory, regulatory and resource management activities of the Department benefit the residents and producers in Western Sydney.

NSW Agriculture has four establishments in, or directly servicing, Western Sydney. They are the Windsor District Office, the Richmond Organic Waste Recycling Unit, the Elizabeth Macarthur Institute at Camden (which has a world class reputation as a Centre of Excellence for animal health and production research and diagnostic work) and the Gosford Research and Advisory Station (which supports the cut flower industry in Western Sydney). The total budget for these centres is around $28 million per annum. They have a direct effect on Western Sydney by providing employment, supporting primary producers and promoting a sustainable role for agriculture. The industries targeted by these establishments are: stone fruit, cut flowers, nursery, vegetable, dairy, turf, mushroom, horse, poultry and beef cattle.

In May 1998, the Minister for Agriculture released the Strategic Plan for Sustainable Agriculture in the Sydney Region, which provides a platform for the sustainable development of agriculture in Western Sydney. Planning is underway to develop a process to co-ordinate the implementation of the plan on a whole-of-government and community partnership basis.

Energy Exploration

The Government has been pursuing a sustained and rigorous program to attract petroleum exploration to the State. The program has included provision of technical and other information through initiatives such as Discovery 2000, marketing and promotion of the State's prospectivity and commercial advantages, and the provision of an appropriate legislative framework. These efforts are now close to bearing positive results for Western Sydney and the State as a whole.

Investigations for commercial production of methane gas from Sydney Basin coal seams are at an advanced stage. Sydney Gas Operations Pty Ltd has been conducting an extensive exploration program in the Camden area. The company is close to entering a limited production phase as part of the assessment of the project's feasibility. Seventeen of a proposed initial twenty five wells have been drilled at a cost of approximately $10 million. If full scale production proves feasible in the next phase, subject to development approval, the number of wells could eventually grow to over 100, representing a substantial investment in Western Sydney. The Camden area has the potential to produce a significant part of the total gas currently imported into NSW from South Australia. The Government will facilitate the development of this project through the co-ordination of development consent and other approvals processes.

Commercial production of gas in Western Sydney would have very significant economic benefits for the region and the State. Gas has never been produced in New South Wales in large commercial quantities, and the Camden project represents an important opportunity for the establishment of a new industry. Direct and indirect employment opportunities and lower gas prices are just some of the benefits that could be expected.

3.2 SUPPORTING FAMILIES AND COMMUNITIES

One of the important elements of Western Sydney is that it is a strongly multi-cultural region. It has a strong migrant and non-English speaking character with one-third of its people born overseas and 78 per cent of this group born in countries other than the United Kingdom, the United States of America, Canada, South Africa, Ireland or New Zealand. It is one of the most cosmopolitan regions in Australia, with 30 per cent of people speaking a language other than English at home. In Fairfield City Council area alone, people from more than 130 nationalities, speaking more than 60 languages, live together. 60 per cent of Sydney's Aboriginal and Torres Strait Islander residents live in Western Sydney. The population growth is being accelerated by birth rates for the region well above the State average. Around one-third of residents are under 19 years of age. Since 1996, there has been a 30 per cent increase in aged and disabled pensioners in the region.

The Government is committed to meeting the needs of the people who live and work in Western Sydney. It is responding to this growth and diversity by allocating new resources to the region, and continues to support families and communities and protect children in Western Sydney. Government agencies providing services include the Departments of Aboriginal Affairs, Ageing and Disability, Attorney General's, Community Services, Education and Training, Fair Trading, Health, Housing, Juvenile Justice, Premier's, Urban Affairs and Planning, Women, the Rural Fire Service, the Ethnic Affairs Commission, the Home Care Service and the Police Service.

Government programs, initiatives and services for which funding has been allocated in 2000-2001, and which will support families and communities in Western Sydney, are outlined below.

Health

NSW Health continues to be a major component of the State Budget with the Government planning to spend around $1.2 billion on better health services for the residents of Western Sydney in 2000-2001. This funding for new and upgraded hospitals, specialised cancer, women's health and other health services will continue to make it easier for Western Sydney people to obtain health care without having to travel long distances.

In March 2000, the Government announced a State-wide $2 billion cash injection into the NSW health system over three years, in response to reviews of the system. This additional recurrent funding has been provided to improve the quality of patient care and relieve pressure on health system staff dealing with ever increasing demands. The Government is committed to ensuring that all areas of the State receive their fair share of health funds. For example, the South Western Sydney Area Health Service will receive an extra $72.2 million per annum or 16.4 per cent, by 2002-2003.

In 2000-2001, Western Sydney will receive an additional $60 million. Recurrent funding for the Western Sydney Area Health Service will rise by $26.2 million from $491.1 million in the 1999-2000 budget year to $517.3 million in 2000-2001. Similarly, South Western Sydney Area Health Service funding will increase by $25.2 million to $466.4 million and Wentworth Area Health Service by $8.6 million to $196.3 million.

The Western Sydney Area Health Service will provide $0.9 million for two further intensive care beds to be opened at Westmead Hospital.

The significant funding injection for the South Western Sydney Area Health Service, in addition to enhancement funding for mental health, drug and alcohol and dental services, and will allow for a range of service growth and expansion. Specialty services commenced at Liverpool Hospital in 1999-2000, including cardiology, rheumatology, gastroenterology, critical care, diabetic care and neurosurgery, will be consolidated. Throughout the South Western Sydney Area Health Service, services will be expanded in emergency departments, intensive care, elective surgery and chronic care. Investment will also be made in ambulatory care services. In this regard, community-based services will be strengthened to support the treatment of patients outside of the acute hospital setting and to ensure best practice discharge processes are in place at each of the Health Service's hospitals. It is also intended to provide funds to support the operation of a CT scanner at the Fairfield Hospital. This represents a significant service development and improvement for that Hospital and its community.

Wentworth Area Health Service will allocate $0.9 million on the continuation of expanded services including the setting up of a Home and Ambulatory Detoxification Service. Detoxification Services have been identified as a service need in the Nepean area. The funding will also provide for an additional intensive care bed in the redeveloped Intensive Care Unit at Nepean Hospital which is expected to be completed by January 2001.

The Westmead, New Children's, Nepean and Liverpool Hospitals are all major teaching hospitals which are being continually upgraded. Mt Druitt, Camden and Campbelltown hospitals are also being upgraded.

The Government is determined to ensure that people in Western Sydney from disadvantaged socio-economic backgrounds, Aboriginal people, some ethnic groups and people with disabilities continue to have equitable access to appropriate health services, as generally, these people have poorer health than the population as a whole. In each Health Service there is a network of services covering health promotion, prevention, treatment, rehabilitation and palliative care. The Government's aim is that more people in the community will be able to demonstrate behaviour supportive of better health, including regular exercise, nutritious diet, moderate consumption of alcoholic beverages and decreased levels of smoking and abuse of illicit substances.

Major capital projects to be undertaken, continued or completed in Western Sydney in 2000-2001 include:

- ◆ Continuation of the Macarthur Sector Strategy which includes redevelopment of Camden Hospital and Upgrading Campbelltown Hospital by 2003, mobile vans to assist isolated areas and a child care centre in Camden/Wollondilly ($31.3 million);
- ◆ Complete the stage two development of Nepean Hospital ($11.9 million);
- ◆ Blue Mountains Acute Inpatient Unit ($1.8 million);
- ◆ Blue Mountains Hospital Hydrotherapy ($900,000);
- ◆ Energy Smart Building Program ($398,000);
- ◆ Nepean Hospital Campus Detoxification Unit ($2.6 million);
- ◆ A new $5 million Procedural Centre at Westmead Hospital to provide greater access to day only surgery ($1.5 million);
- ◆ Radiology Oncology at Campbelltown integrated with the major development ($4 million);
- ◆ Neonatal Emergency Transport planning is continuing with expenditure in 2000-2001 of $800,000;

- ◆ NSW Breast Cancer Institute at Westmead ($1.5 million);
- ◆ Bodington Hospital Nursing Home Wentworth Falls ($3 million); and
- ◆ Campbelltown Adolescent Admission Unit/Day Centre – new facility ($600,000).

NSW Health will provide significant funding to maintain and expand specialised health services in Western Sydney in 2000-2001. These will include services as outlined below:

- ◆ In April 2000, the Minister for Health announced that Mental Health Services will have, for the first time, a guaranteed three year budget. Mental health problems, often hidden, affect one in five Australians. The Government's spending on mental health services, in direct response to the needs of families across NSW, will grow by $36.5 million in 2000-2001. Areas that have been traditionally under-resourced will receive the largest increases. In the next three years, South Western Sydney Area Health Service and Wentworth Area Health Service will receive increases of 48 per cent and 46 per cent, respectively. In 2000-2001, the allocation for mental health services in Western Sydney will increase by $8.1 million to almost $110 million.
- ◆ The total funding package will provide additional direct care staff, new community service clients, extra emergency department clients and new acute care beds. Specific initiatives include the establishment of a new regional Adolescent Inpatient Unit in Campbelltown and a new Intensive Management Unit at Liverpool Hospital.

Dental Services in Western Sydney will be allocated an estimated $27 million in 2000-2001, an increase of $1.5 million or 6 per cent. In the three year period 2000-2001 to 2002-2003 funding for Dental Services will be increased significantly and, for the first time, dental funding will be allocated on a Resource Distribution Formula basis to bring fairness to all areas. By 2002-2003 dental funding to Western Sydney, Wentworth and South Western Sydney Area Health Services will increase by $2.2 million (12.0 per cent), $0.5 million (21.3 per cent) and $3.5 million (8.2 per cent) respectively. The direction of monies to front line dental services will be supported by the introduction of a new Information Technology system to produce greater efficiencies for the customers and allow up-to-date networking of services. The system has been successfully trialed at Westmead Dental Hospital and will be introduced State-wide to provide a booking system which allows patients to be given an appointment rather than having to wait to be seen in turn.

The Rehabilitation and Extended Care Program in Western Sydney will be allocated an estimated $160 million in 2000-2001. The objectives of the program are to improve or maintain the well being and independent functioning of people with disabilities or chronic conditions, the frail and the terminally ill.

Emergency Department Services within Western Sydney will receive an additional $1 million per annum to reduce waiting times for patients to be seen in the Emergency Department as well as streamlining access to inpatient beds once a decision has been made to admit a person. These extra funds will be provided to Blacktown, Mt Druitt and Westmead Hospitals.

In 2000-2001, in addition to normal ambulance fleet replacement, a further 10 ambulance vehicles will be available to finalise replacement of all the Ford F series vehicles in Western Sydney.

Drug and Alcohol Services

The Office of Drug Policy within The Cabinet Office is responsible for the co-ordination, implementation and monitoring of the Government's Drug Summit Plan of Action. The Government is implementing a broad-ranging set of programs following the New South Wales Drug Summit held in May 1999. Programs which have the potential to impact on Western Sydney include:

- ◆ Home Detoxification Programs;
- ◆ New rehabilitation beds at non-Government organisation providers;
- ◆ Expansion of the General Practitioner Project;
- ◆ Remuneration to pharmacists as an incentive to participate in methadone service delivery;
- ◆ Case management for clients dealing with non-Government organisations and/or Government agencies, to ensure optimum use is made of available services;
- ◆ Expansion of services and places within the Methadone Program; and
- ◆ Expansion of Pharmacotherapy Stabilisation Programs for Inmates, eg trial naltrexone treatment.

The Government issued a Plan of Action to implement the main recommendations. The Drugs and Community Action Strategy, a key strategy of the Plan of Action is designed to contribute to a more co-ordinated and collaborative action between government, non-government and the community to address illicit drug issues. Eight regional Project Managers have been recruited to implement the strategy across NSW. Two Project Managers are co-located with the Premier's Department Regional Coordinators for Western Sydney in Parramatta and South West Sydney in Bankstown.

A key element of the Strategy is the establishment of new Community Drug Action Teams and support for existing teams. These teams will bring together local representatives of police, health services, schools and other agencies, with local service providers, councils and interested community organisations. Local drug action plans will be developed to guide action. The Drugs and Community Action Strategy operates within the framework of the Premier's Department Regional Co-ordination program.

Plan of Action initiatives specifically for Western Sydney are:

- ◆ Youth Drug Court;
- ◆ Extra resources for the Department of Juvenile Justice Intensive Support Program units at Blacktown and Liverpool for managing young people serving community-based orders;
- ◆ New Department of Juvenile Justice detoxification services to assist young people in custody who are high level users of drugs;
- ◆ Detoxification Unit at the Wentworth Area Health Service;
- ◆ New service to be established to provide methadone and counselling services in south Western Sydney;
- ◆ New drug rehabilitation beds and counselling services for young people;

- ◆ Healthy Lifestyle Zones to provide a strict drug-free environment for inmates to overcome addiction at Emu Plains and Parramatta Correctional Centres;
- ◆ Women's Transitional Unit to assist women inmates from prison to the community, probably in the Parramatta area; and
- ◆ Grants scheme to support youth drug and alcohol prevention activities for people from diverse cultural and linguistic backgrounds and Aboriginal and Torres Strait Islander young people. The scheme will operate in each of the three Area Health Services within Western Sydney.

The Government has allocated around $13 million in 2000-2001 for drug initiatives and related community programs in Western Sydney.

Significant new Drug and Alcohol Services to be provided by the Department of Health in Western Sydney in 2000-2001 include:

- ◆ An additional 13 residential rehabilitation places for non-government organisations;
- ◆ Funding to establish ambulatory detoxification services in Wentworth Area Health Service ($0.3 million) and South Western Sydney Area Health Service ($0.2 million);
- ◆ A new multi-purpose methadone counselling service in Fairfield ($0.4 million);

Approximately $3.4 million will be provided to establish a new residential detoxification service in Wentworth Area Health Service.

$2 million will be allocated to Pharmacotherapy drug treatment services to expand the number of new places within methadone treatment and increase the case management of methadone clients; and

The three Area Health Services in Western Sydney will receive Drug Summit funds to appoint a Service Access and Data Co-ordinator to assist in improving information relating to access and the provision of drug treatment services.

Education and Training

The Department of Education and Training has responsibility for publicly funded early childhood, primary and secondary education and training in both private and public sectors. Under legislative arrangements, TAFE NSW retains its identity within the organisation. The Department also covers higher education, adult and community education and the Adult Migrant Education Service. The Department will continue to build on its achievements in securing the future for students in all education sectors. Further steps will be taken to make the school and vocational training systems work more cohesively to provide students with clear pathways to further education and employment.

In 2000-2001, the Department of Education and Training estimates that in Western Sydney it will commit:

- ◆ approximately $1.44 billion in operating costs for primary and secondary schools;
- ◆ over $45 million on major capital works projects for schools;
- ◆ $29 million on school building maintenance;
- ◆ approximately $252 million in operating costs for TAFE Institutes; and
- ◆ $12.1 million for the development and refurbishment of TAFE facilities.

The Government will continue to implement its Computers in Schools Policy which has provided schools in Western Sydney with more than $38.7 million worth of computer equipment. Schools in the region will be provided with a Computer Co-ordinator's Grant of $5.3 million and a Technology Grant of $5 million. An additional $1.13 million will be allocated to the Technology in Learning and Teaching Program to provide training to teachers working in Western Sydney.

Over $17 million will be made available for the Back-to-School Allowance payments to families in Western Sydney in 2000-2001. Over $30 million will be provided for literacy and numeracy strategies in schools throughout Western Sydney as part of the State Literacy and Numeracy Plan, of which a significant component is the Reading Recovery Program.

In 2000-2001, $8.6 million has been allocated for the new Mt Druitt multi-campus college to provide excellent school education, TAFE and university opportunities. The campus consists of Dunheved, Mt Druitt and Shalvey High Schools for Years 7 to 10, Bidwell High School/Primary School for Preschool to Year 12 and Whalan High School for Years 11 and 12.

$7.8 million will be provided in 2000-2001 to socio-economically disadvantaged schools in Western Sydney. These schools will be supported by 159 teachers for this targeted program. The Student Assistance Scheme provides financial support to those students in greatest need. It is expected that over $1.4 million will be distributed under the scheme to Western Sydney schools in 2000-2001.

An additional $150,000 will be allocated for the TAFE Youth at Risk Program in the region in 2000-2001. An estimated $300,000 will be provided to schools in Western Sydney in 2000-2001 to enable year 9 to 12 students to develop individual school to work plans.

The TAFE NSW Scholarship Scheme will support further study for young people who have successfully completed vocational education and training courses as part of their HSC over years 11 and 12. The first scholarships will be offered to students completing their HSC in 2000 for study commencing in 2001.

In 2000-2001, funding of $200,000 will be available to students in government secondary schools in Western Sydney to undertake study of languages overseas.

It is expected that approximately $2.6 million will be expended by schools in Western Sydney under the new Vocational Education and Training in Schools Program for the provision of vocational training by both TAFE and private providers.

Women

Making opportunities for women in Western Sydney is a priority of the Government. The Office of Western Sydney is continuing its joint initiative with the Department for Women which is aimed to promote the equitable participation of women in the development of Western Sydney. The initiative involves a partnership with the Department for Women to work collaboratively on policy and programs to improve opportunities for women in Western Sydney to participate in the economic, social and environmental development of the region. The program includes workshops for women in small business across Western Sydney using the Internet as a business tool. A focus will be on the participation of women in Information Technology opportunities within the region. In 2000-2001, the Department for Women has allocated $90,000 to the Western Sydney project.

Other programs which will assist women in Western Sydney in 2000-2001 include:

- ◆ Significant funds for Women's Health Services. The Breast Screening and Assessment Service will be continued at a cost of $4 million. $0.4 million will be allocated for the Cervical Screening Program with funds applied for promotion, marketing and education. A $2.4 million capital contribution will be made towards the establishment of the NSW Breast Cancer Institute at Westmead, a project due for completion in early 2001. In addition, $1.4 million will be provided to fund a range of services including Alternative Birthing Programs; Ethnic Obstetric Liaison Officers, Women's Health Coordinators and Women's Health Nurses. These funds include grants to non-government organisations to provide a range of services including cancer prevention, counselling and interventions to improve the health of women living in Western Sydney;
- ◆ A one day workshop, conducted by the Office of Western Sydney, titled Australis Self Made Girl, will assist disadvantaged and unemployed young women to start their own jobs in small business. Young women from across Western Sydney are assisted by Western Sydney businesswomen who volunteer to be mentors for the young women on the day;
- ◆ The Women in Business Mentor Program - $22,000 has been allocated to assist approximately 30 businesswomen to take part in two programs. One program will be run by the YWCA in the Liverpool and Campbelltown area and the second program is a retail specific program that will start in February 2001 in Parramatta;
- ◆ Women in Business Growth Strategies Workshops aimed at stimulating business growth, increasing employment and improving business skills; and
- ◆ Projects planned as part of the Violence Against Women Strategy include: further work with General Practitioners; development of the Domestic Violence Inter-agency protocol; targeting ethnic minorities; and education sessions addressed at mainstream service providers regarding domestic violence.

Services for children and families

The Families First Strategy, which commenced in July 1999, is designed to extend the parenting skills of parents with children under eight years of age through the improvement and expansion of family support services. In 2000-2001, $11.6 million will be allocated to the strategy, of which $4.48 million will be for prevention and early intervention services to support families in South Western Sydney. Families First starts with a visit in the family home by a nurse after the baby's birth and is followed up with regular visits from a trained volunteer, often an older person. The strategy involves NSW Health, the Department of Community Services, the Department of Housing, the Ageing and Disability Department and the Department of Education and Training. The Office of Children and Young People within The Cabinet Office is responsible for the development and ongoing evaluation of Families First.

The Commission for Children and Young People will be co-ordinating the process of screening people who will be working with children and young people in Western Sydney, at a cost of $120,000 in 2000-2001. In addition, the Commission will be conducting a public inquiry at a cost of some $10,000, into children who have no one to turn to. Recommendations will be developed on how best to support children who do not have ready access to adults who can assist with their problems. $40,000 will be allocated in Western Sydney on the baseline research needed to develop the Commission's ongoing role for monitoring the safety, welfare and well-being of children and young people.

Funding of the Schools as Community Centres Program will be continued in 2000-2001 with approximately $95,000 to be expended in Western Sydney.

The Department of Juvenile Justice will continue the following programs in Western Sydney in 2000-2001:

- ◆ Intensive Program Units at Blacktown and Liverpool specialising in counselling and developmental programs as an alternative to detention, at an estimated $1.2 million;
- ◆ Juvenile Justice Community Services at Blacktown, Fairfield and Campbelltown provide the courts with community-based sentencing alternatives to custody. Funding allows for the employment of mentors to support non-English speaking background and Aboriginal clients as well as sessional supervisors to monitor work placements for clients serving community service orders;
- ◆ Community Based Support Services. A number of Western Sydney community organisations are partly funded by the Department of Juvenile Justice to provide various services such as:
 - the Ja-Biah Bail Support Program at Dean Park run by the Mundarra Aboriginal Youth Services for the provision of alternative accommodation, supervision and support for Aboriginal young people who would otherwise be refused bail;
 - an Indo-Chinese Juvenile Offender Support Program, administered by the Sydney Anglicare Home Mission Society, to provide culturally appropriate post release support services to Indo-Chinese young offenders, their families and communities;
 - funding of an accommodation support worker through Marist Community Services located at Blacktown;
 - the Pacific Islander Resource Service administered by the Penrith Streetwork Project which provides clients and staff with culturally specific information in relation to the assessment, case planning and integration of young offenders;
 - the Youth Links Post Release Support Program at Green Valley administered by Mission Australia for the provision of a voluntary post-release support service; and

The South West Multicultural and Community Centre, Minto for assistance for their Aboriginal Young Offenders Program;

Youth Justice Conferencing - approximately $800,000 will be allocated by the Department for Youth Justice Conferences for young offenders from Western Sydney. Conference Administrators are employed at Blacktown, Campbelltown, Werrington and Fairfield; and Accommodation Support Program - funding will continue to be provided to implement recommendations from the Wood Royal Commission relating to accommodation support for homeless young people who are at risk of drifting into the juvenile justice system.

Services for older people and people with special needs

The Home Care Service of NSW is a State-wide service provider, which helps frail, aged people, younger people with disabilities and their carers to live independently in their communities. During 2000-2001, Home Care Service expects to provide services to more than 50,000 people across the State, including 8,500 people in Western Sydney. The services provided include: general housework; personal care; respite care; essential home handyperson assistance; live-in care; and essential shopping/transport assistance. It is expected that in 2000-2001, approximately $28.5 million will be spent providing services to the Western Sydney community. Home Care has obtained additional funding to enhance services. Thirty Community Care packages for Aboriginal communities in the Campbelltown area have been obtained. Reductions in administrative expenditure will also see additional resources being directed to service provision next year.

In 2000–2001, Home and Community Care funding for Western Sydney is anticipated to exceed $2.5 million (Nepean $620,000; Cumberland/Prospect $810,000; and $1.1 million for South West Sydney).

Recurrent funding for services in Western Sydney under the Disability Services Program will total $62.2 million in 2000-2001 (Nepean 130 services - $12.23 million; Cumberland/Prospect 219 services - $29.9 million; and South West Sydney 361 services - $20.03 million).

In 2000-2001, more than $270 million will be allocated Sydney-wide to fund subsidised pensioner travel on public transport. In addition, more than $25 million will be expended on Transport Assistance Programs which provide transport subsidies under the Community Transport program, Home and Community Care Program and subsidies for half-fare taxi transport for persons unable to utilise public transport due to severe and/or permanent disabilities.

Total subsidies of $12 million are expected to be provided to Western Sydney local councils in 2000-2001 under the Subsidies for Pensioner Concessions Program for shire and municipal rates relief.

Aboriginal People

The Department of Aboriginal Affairs works closely with the Penrith Lakes Development Corporation's Muru Mittigar Centre to advocate expansion of training and employment for Aboriginal people in culturally related activities, native vegetation nursery work, "koori landscaping", and cultural tourism. The Department also participates in the policy process for the region through its involvement in the Premier's Department Western Sydney Regional Co-ordination Management Group. It maintains close working relationships with the University of Western Sydney, Hawkesbury campus, through the Wyung Indigenous Unit, the Tourism Faculty and the Centre for Integrated Catchment Management to promote cultural tourism linked to training and enterprise development.

Aboriginal Health Services will be allocated $1.2 million in 2000-2001. Non Government Organisation grants of approximately $0.7 million will also be made to Aboriginal Health Services.

The Department of Industrial Relations has established an Aboriginal and Torres Strait Islander Workplace Services Unit within the Western Sydney Contact Centre at Parramatta. This Unit assists Aboriginal and Torres Strait Islander people in NSW, especially the sizeable Aboriginal and Torres Strait Islander community in Western Sydney, to understand their rights and responsibilities as employees, managers and employers. The Unit also assists Aboriginal and Torres Strait Islander people to obtain information on all Departmental services, and other related employment issues.

The Attorney General's Department will appoint four additional Aboriginal Court Liaison Officers, with one position to be a Specialist Children's Court officer based at Campbelltown Local Court.

Housing assistance is provided to the Aboriginal communities of Western Sydney through the Aboriginal Housing Program administered by the NSW Aboriginal Housing Office. The Program has three sub-programs:

- ◆ The Housing Aboriginal Communities Program - provides rental housing and housing related assistance for Aboriginal people in housing stock managed by Aboriginal housing providers, including Aboriginal Land Councils;
- ◆ The Aboriginal Housing Office Program - provides housing for Aboriginal people in housing stock owned by the Aboriginal Housing Office with tenancy and asset support functions contracted to the Department of Housing; and
- ◆ Sector support and resourcing.

In 2000-2001, a total of $2.265 million has been allocated to the Housing Aboriginal Communities Program for housing projects for Local Aboriginal Land Councils. The Councils are Deerubbin (Blacktown), Gandangarra (Liverpool/Fairfield) and Tharawal (Campbelltown). In addition $340,000 has been allocated to the Aboriginal Housing Office Program in Parramatta and $440,000 for sector support and resourcing throughout the Sydney Region.

The Department of Fair Trading will continue to support initiatives aimed at assisting the Aboriginal community in Western Sydney under its Aboriginal Strategy, with some $154,000 allocated in 2000-2001. The Strategy is designed to provide a gateway for Aboriginal consumers and traders to the services offered by the Department.

The Casino Community Benefit Fund

In 2000-2001, the Government will be committing $214,000 for gambling support and community development projects in Western Sydney. Grants include:

$60,000 over two years to Save the Children Fund (NSW) Division (Blacktown Family Support Centre) for the provision of counselling and support to families who experience problems with gambling and who have pre-school children;

More than $40,000 over two years to the Vietnamese Community in Australia (NSW Chapter), Cabramatta, to assist with the employment of a full-time Vietnamese domestic violence support worker for Vietnamese women who are victims of drug and alcohol users and experience domestic violence;

$25,000 over two years to the Western Sydney Community Forum to address issues and needs for people experiencing gambling problems, in addition to addressing child abuse, domestic violence, homelessness and unemployment; and

More than $40,000 over two years to the "Pendo to Parra" Youth Support to assist with a prevention strategy aimed at young people at risk of becoming chronically homeless, through the provision of accommodation, employment assistance and other support services.

Housing

In addition to the capital housing allocation in 2000-2001 to the Department of Housing for new public and community housing properties and the improvements to existing housing stock in Western Sydney, allocations have been made for:

- ◆ $1.263 million for 246 new short and long term leased properties;
- ◆ $4.3 million for the construction or purchase of 16 new crisis accommodation properties;
- ◆ $0.11 million for 10 new leased crisis accommodation properties; and
- ◆ $0.938 million for capital improvements to more than 90 existing crisis accommodation dwellings.

The Department of Housing estimates that an estimated 4,000 households will be newly assisted in public and community housing and that more than 9,100 households will be assisted with some of the costs of private rental. This includes private rental subsidies to more than 300 people living with a disability or people with HIV/AIDS.

The Department of Fair Trading has funded research into the potential impacts of the Sydney 2000 Olympics on the rental accommodation market. Monitoring of movements in rents in areas of Western Sydney near Olympic venues is one of several strategies being employed as a result of this research in the lead-up to the Olympics.

Sport and Recreation

A total of $585,000 has been allocated to the Western Sydney and South Western Sydney Regional Academies of Sport and the NSW Institute of Sport. In addition, the Department of Sport and Recreation will spend $430,000 in 2000-2001 on programs and services in Western Sydney. These will include: the Swimsafe Program for learning to swim ($100,000); the Youth in Sport Program (Youth at Risk) in conjunction with the Police and Community Youth Clubs to expand the range of sports and to continue working with high profile sporting teams ($40,000); the Introductory Opportunities to a sport or activity programs ($50,000); the Coach Education and Leadership Program ($40,000); the Vacation Sports Program for children ($40,000); the Fitness Leaders and Austswim Accreditation, a program for education and training of fitness and swimming instructors ($40,000); the Sports Development Programs to assist coaches, officials, players and parents in many aspects of sport ($45,000); Aquafitness ($25,000); and the Greater West Sports Foundation ($50,000).

Some $6 million has been allocated State-wide to various programs for the development of sporting facilities (eg construction of sporting fields, resurfacing tennis courts, upgrading outdoor lighting) from the Capital Assistance Program and the Regional Sports Facility Program. Some eighty projects will be supported in Western Sydney in 2000-2001 from these programs with funding of around $850,000.

Public Safety

The NSW Police Service Western Sydney budget for 2000-2001 will be around $218 million. This includes recurrent funding such as salaries for the more than 2,750 police officers (as at January 2000) located within 46 Western Sydney Police Stations and capital expenditure for police training facilities at Westmead.

The NSW Police Service is closely involved in the Government's action plan on youth/community issues. All Western Sydney Local Area Commands have Youth Liaison Officers and Community Safety Officers. Initiatives under the action plan in Canterbury-Bankstown include:

- ◆ Operation Pericos, an on-going policing strategy targeting break and enter, drug dealing and anti-social behaviour;
- ◆ Youth Liaison Officers have been appointed to implement youth crime prevention programs, to deal with matters under the Young Offenders Act and to educate other police about youth issues;
- ◆ An Ethnic Employment Strategy for the Police Service has been developed so as to ensure that it reflects the ethnic composition of the communities it works in;
- ◆ Funding of a Juvenile Crime Prevention Officer with emphasis on prevention and early intervention;
- ◆ A workshop on graffiti solutions as a case study for a Handbook on Graffiti Solutions for Councils, Designers and Developers;
- ◆ A forum of key community stakeholders to address issues such as parent/family support, counselling, mediation and access to language and other services; and
- ◆ Improving communications between non-English speaking parents, schools and community organisations.

The Police Service, in conjunction with the Western Sydney Area Health Service, is developing training related to needle and syringe and methadone programs for the St Marys and Penrith Local Area Commands.

The Attorney General's Department has awarded the Hawkesbury City Council a Safer Community Compact grant of nearly $142,000 over two years to implement components of its Crime Prevention Plan. In addition, Safer Towns and Cities grants, to be expended over two years, have been awarded by the Department to Canterbury/Bankstown City Councils ($120,000) and Fairfield City Council ($122,000) for the development of local crime prevention plans.

Corrective Services

A total of approximately $128.5 million has been allocated for recurrent expenditure in Western Sydney in 2000-2001 for the containment and care of inmates, for the Probation and Parole Service and for Attendance Centres.

Supporting Cultural Diversity

State-wide in 2000-2001, almost $80 million will be spent by the Department of Education and Training under the Non-English Speaking Background (NESB) Program and over $3.5 million will be provided for the Multicultural Education Plan. Major proportions of these programs will be implemented in Western Sydney.

The Business Migration initiative will continue in 2000-2001 with a State-wide allocation from the Department of State and Regional Development of $50,000. The initiative will assist the establishment of new businesses and the expansion of existing businesses in Western Sydney through increased investment and employment opportunities and the provision of information in community languages.

The Western Sydney Regional Advisory Committee will continue to advise the Ethnic Affairs Commission on ethnic affairs issues. The Commission will continue to provide funds under the Community Development Grants Program, to assist in promoting the participation of people of ethnic background in all aspects of community life. In 2000-2001, the Commission has allocated $55,000 under the program for staging street festivals in Western Sydney during the four weeks leading to the Olympic Games.

Ethnic Community Liaison Police Officers are located within the Cabramatta, Fairfield, Lakemba, Bankstown and Campsie Local Area Commands to improve relations between communities and police. These officers are involved in a range of activities including working with local businesses to reduce crime; providing policing information and workshops to community groups and schools; and developing community events. A "Police and Community Together" Project has been developed for the Bankstown and Campsie Local Area Commands and initiatives include; education packages for police; an Ice-Breaker Sporting Day organised between the Police and Arabic community organisations; and football skills and graffiti works projects.

The Police and Community Training Program, established in 1996, is jointly sponsored by the Police Service and the Ethnic Affairs Commission. The program will be extended into 2000-2001 for a project in Penrith/St Marys. The aim of the program is to promote and facilitate better relationships between the Police and local ethnic communities.

The Ethnic Affairs Commission's Language Services will continue to provide interpreting and translating services State-wide. The expected expenditure for the 2000-2001 budget is almost $5 million.

Arts

$400,000 has been allocated in 2000-2001 for the Government's A Strategy for the Arts in Western Sydney. In each of the subsequent two financial periods, $500,000 will be set aside to continue implementation. The Strategy is a joint initiative of the Ministry for the Arts and the Office of Western Sydney. The Ministry for the Arts has appointed a Western Sydney and Community Cultural Development Program Manager to oversee the strategy's implementation. The Government's goals set out in the strategy are:

- ◆ to encourage arts and cultural activity that is locally determined and helps communities to grow;
- ◆ to assist artists in Western Sydney achieve their full potential;
- ◆ to increase participation in the arts by people in Western Sydney;
- ◆ to support and nurture the arts industry in Western Sydney; and
- ◆ to encourage regional cultural development.

Key commitments of the strategy include a Local Government Arts Incentive Fund to provide support to local councils for arts projects; a corporate support-for-the-arts scheme; and the refocusing of the Ministry for the Arts Capital Assistance Program to give priority to projects in Western Sydney.

2000-2001 will see the Ministry for the Arts focus more Cultural Grants Program expenditure towards Western Sydney, as part of the implementation of A Strategy for the Arts in Western Sydney. The allocation will be formulated by the end of 2000 when applications from organisations for 2001 activities are received and assessed.

The Ministry for the Arts will allocate more than $480,000 in 2000-2001 to the Historic Houses Trust of NSW for the Rouse Hill Estate museum development. Additional recurrent funding will permit public access to the historic estate two days a week, increasing to five days per week by 2004-2005. The property dates back to 1818 and was occupied by six generations of related families for over 185 years. It has a unique collection of artifacts, furnishings, farm buildings and equipment. The funds are to be used for maintenance, staffing, operating the visitors centre, interpretive tours, schools visits and outreach and community programs.

Community Development

Funding for grants to community organisations for family and community development services under the Western Sydney and Macarthur Area Assistance Schemes will continue to be provided at current levels. The level of funding is expected to be approximately $4.7 million.

3.3 PROTECTING THE ENVIRONMENT

Local government, businesses and community groups throughout Western Sydney are working to protect the quality of the region's rivers, soils, air, vegetation and habitat for native animals. Western Sydney businesses are improving the efficiency of their use of energy and other environmental resources and reducing the production of waste. Individual householders in the region are also helping the environment every day by conserving water, reducing electricity use, using public transport and recycling waste to help the environment.

The environment in Western Sydney is a priority for the New South Wales Government. Outcomes on which the Government is focusing are improved air quality, improved water quality of waterways, reduction in the levels of waste, energy and greenhouse, environmental heritage, protection of biodiversity and a regional national parks and nature reserves network.

The Government's Western Sydney Environment Strategy was developed to provide an integrated approach to the region's environment. It will help maximise the effectiveness of existing programs and encourage government, industry, researchers and the community to work together for the good of the environment in Western Sydney. The Strategy was developed in 1999 by the Office of Western Sydney in conjunction with the three levels of government, TeamWest, the Western Sydney Regional Organisation of Councils, the Macarthur Regional Organisation of Councils, the Western Sydney Waste Board, the Macarthur Waste Board, the Hawkesbury-Nepean Catchment Management Trust, the Upper Parramatta River Catchment Management Trust, the University of Western Sydney, industry associations, industry, business and commerce and other key stakeholders in Western Sydney. The Strategy can be found at website www.westernsydney.nsw.gov.au

In 2000-2001, the Environment Protection Authority will spend some $16.8 million of its operating budget in Western Sydney. Other agencies which have a role in protecting the Western Sydney environment include NSW Agriculture, the National Parks and Wildlife Service, the Department of Land and Water Conservation, the Department of Urban Affairs and Planning, the Sydney Water Corporation, the Sydney Catchment Authority, the Healthy Rivers Commission, the Hawkesbury Nepean Catchment Management Trust, Waste Service of NSW, the Western Sydney Waste Board, the Macarthur Waste Board, the Sustainable Energy Development Authority and the Office of Western Sydney.

NSW Agriculture is playing an important role in the achievement of agricultural Best Management Practices in Western Sydney. It is implementing water reforms and soil best management practices and is providing assistance to Wollondilly, Camden, Blacktown, Penrith, Hawkesbury, Baulkham Hills and Liverpool Councils to undertake rural land use studies. These Councils are seeking to retain sustainable agriculture as a land use and industry within their respective local government areas. NSW Agriculture is also working with all stakeholders in Western Sydney to achieve security of tenure and social equity, two essential factors in meeting the needs of the community.

Clean Air and Clean Waterways

Sydney's air quality will continue to improve as commuters switch to public transport. By 2010, the Government will have built a total of 90 kilometres of rapid bus only transitways which will connect Liverpool, Parramatta, Blacktown and Castle Hill. It is planned that 30 kilometres will be operational by 2003. The Parramatta to Chatswood Rail Link Environmental Impact Statement estimates a reduction of 181 million vehicle kilometres travelled by 2006. By 2021, the reduction will be 184 million kilometres, the equivalent of 6 million fewer passenger car trips every year. Achieving this type of reduction in vehicle trips means less fuel consumed and less air pollution. By 2021, it is estimated that reductions in greenhouse gases in the Sydney Basin as a result of the Rail Link will cut 14,676 tonnes of carbon dioxide and 1,137 tonnes of carbon monoxide from the atmosphere. The reduction in vehicle emissions will also result in a cut in lead levels, as 90 per cent of the lead in urban air comes from vehicle exhaust pipes.

In 2000-2001, $900,000 will be expended on the Air Quality Monitoring Program in Western Sydney.

The Sustainable Energy Development Authority has been established by the Government to reduce the level of greenhouse gas emissions in New South Wales by investing in the commercialisation and use of sustainable energy technologies. The Authority has found that most factories, office buildings, clubs, hotels and shopping centres could reduce their energy consumption by at least 20 per cent by investing in the latest energy efficient equipment. Such investments invariably offer a high quality profitable rate of return, resulting in cost-effective energy savings. Similarly, the residential energy efficient program offered by the Authority has the potential to reduce household energy consumption by up to 40 per cent. The program for Government includes: helping local councils with energy efficient housing policies; assisting public and community housing managers to install energy and water saving devices; and helping Government agencies to undertake energy saving measures and reduce their energy consumption by 25 per cent by 2005. Anticipated expenditure in 2000-2001 by the Authority in Western Sydney is $0.5 million, the greater part being through the Energy Smart Business and Energy Smart Homes programs.

The Hawkesbury-Nepean River System is one of the most important in New South Wales. With a length of over 450 kilometres, and draining an area from Goulburn to near Cessnock and Lithgow to Palm Beach, the Hawkesbury-Nepean is vital to the health and economic development of Western Sydney.

The Government will continue to fund the operations of the Hawkesbury-Nepean Catchment Management Trust in 2000-2001, through the Department of Land and Water Conservation (DLWC), with an allocation of almost $3.6 million. In addition, the Trust will receive $800,000 from the National Heritage Trust, $300,000 in Environmental Trust and Stormwater grants from the Environmental Protection Authority, a $100,000 Recreational Water Quality grant from DLWC and $30,000 Local Government and Miscellaneous funding.

In March 2000 the Minister for the Environment announced a key stage in the Government's comprehensive plan to restore the health of the river system. The major package of water reform initiatives includes the Government's broad-ranging response to the Healthy Rivers Commission report and the new environmental flow rules for the Coxs River. Water flow in the Coxs River will be significantly increased to enhance the ecological health of the river and improve the quality of Sydney's drinking water supply. The Government is also committed to tackling pollution across the Hawkesbury Nepean catchment through its ongoing massive program, costing $180 million over the next 10 years, to upgrade Sydney Water's sewage treatment plants.

Approximately $24.4 million will be spent by Sydney Water in the Hawkesbury-Nepean catchment in 2000-2001. As part of the Government's Waterways Package, Sydney Water is undertaking significant actions to improve water quality in the Hawkesbury-Nepean catchment. Sydney Water is currently upgrading St Marys and Quakers Hill Sewage Treatment Plants (STPs) to further reduce the discharge of phosphorous to ultra low levels. Disinfection systems at all STPs are currently being upgraded to improve performance and to eliminate any chlorine residual in the treated water.

- ◆ A comprehensive whole-of-government approach has been taken in responding to the Healthy Rivers Commission's report setting clear goals and targets for the future and includes:
- ◆ setting new water quality objectives and strategies for the Hawkesbury Nepean River system;
- ◆ changing the river flow and water allocation arrangements through: the establishment of a Hawkesbury Nepean River Management Forum; limiting extractions of water during periods of high stress; trialing the release of water from major dams; and improving the management of water use;
- ◆ ensuring sustainable water management principles and practices in the catchment;
- ◆ promoting greater co-operation and accountability between Government agencies and local councils requiring all relevant Government entities to agree to a Statement of Joint Intent ensuring commitment to the endorsed recommendations of the Healthy Rivers Commission;

- ◆ reviewing the number of weirs in the upper Nepean River which are creating health and maintenance problems, with a view to removing as many as possible, subject to the needs of existing water users; and
- ◆ setting up, for the first time, the concept of an integrated effluent management strategy for the Hawkesbury-Nepean River.

Other Government funding initiatives for the river system under its Water Reform Agenda in 2000-2001 will include:

- ◆ $100,000 to implement a Water Extraction Metering Strategy;
- ◆ $100,000 to implement a Communication Strategy to convey water reform messages to landholders who have reading difficulties and to those from non-English speaking backgrounds;
- ◆ $100,000 to refine and implement the Integrated Water Monitoring Framework - to integrate all water monitoring activities and information across all agencies, organisations and the community into one management system to allow greater access to catchment information for water management planning and to avoid duplication of monitoring activities;
- ◆ $50,000 to maintain the Low Flow Indicator Gauging Station Network as part of the volumetric conversion program;
- ◆ $50,000 to maintain the Daily Flow Model - a daily flow predictive model to assist in decision making and water management planning;
- ◆ $30,000 to refine the Geomorphological Benchmarking study of the catchment which will provide a report card on the river channel condition of the entire catchment, a crucial tool for future environmental flow management;
- ◆ $30,000 for further Biological Indicator Analysis studies to develop an understanding of ecosystem stress and river health issues;
- ◆ $160,000 for the Recreational Water Quality Monitoring Program which includes analytical monitoring, publication of results and liaison with catchment stakeholders;
- ◆ $20,000 for on-going consultation with landholders regarding the Volumetric Conversion/Farm Dams Policy to address landholder concerns and questions; and
- ◆ A total of $60,000 for on-going liaison with stakeholders on water reforms; investigation of water quality of South Creek; and the management of blue-green algae.

The Government will implement the Sydney Catchment Authority's work program to put in place practices and monitoring to ensure clean drinking water for all of Sydney. The Authority will allocate $1.2 million in 2000-2001 towards improving the fundamental health of the catchments via its environmental flows policies. A significant portion of this funding is directed toward the Hawkesbury-Nepean river system. The Authority aims to improve the health of the catchments and protect biodiversity by implementing an environmental flow regime which supports rivers. In 2000-2001, the Authority will allocate $20,000 towards the Streamwatch initiative of the Hawkesbury-Nepean Catchment Management Trust. The initiative is aimed at improving knowledge of local catchments by involving community participants in water quality monitoring.

The Sydney Catchment Authority has instituted a Grants Program for Catchment Protection and Improvement Projects. Since July 1999 the Authority has made 5 grants available to local community groups in Western Sydney for projects in relation to catchment management. Grants, capped at $8,000 per project, are offered twice per year. The Authority has allocated $100,000 per annum towards the Grants Program to assist community groups address catchment issues in their local areas. The Authority will also be funding an Education Program during 2000-2001 to ensure people living in the Authority's catchments understand the impacts of catchment activity on water quality. This is part of the Authority's commitment to an educative role in the community. The program incorporates total water cycle management concepts and is estimated to cost $100,000 per annum.

In 2000-2001, the Sydney Catchment Authority will be establishing work experience programs for school students and graduates to enable these young people to gain knowledge of the Authority, its operating environment and its role in government. The Authority's education program to schools will be continued through excursions and the development of education materials relating to catchment protection and management. The Authority will also be fostering joint research projects with the University of Western Sydney. A stormwater management project is already underway.

The Department of Local Government will provide an estimated $78,000 in grants, on a dollar-for-dollar basis, to Western Sydney local councils, under the SepticSafe Program. The program aims to improve sewage management strategies in environmentally sensitive areas, particularly shellfish food production estuaries and drinking water catchments.

The Department of Land and Water Conservation will be allocating $123,000 in 2000-2001 to its Western Sydney Salinity Investigations and Options Project. The aim of the project is to capitalise on awareness fostered by the Salinity Awareness Program which finished in August 1999 and to investigate the mechanisms that result in salinity. The Department is working in partnership with universities on research projects; local government on management and planning options; and in-house on mapping techniques for salinity. The Department has also allocated $100,000 in 2000-2001 towards urban erosion and sediment control.

The Hawkesbury Nepean Riverbank Management Program is an ongoing National Heritage Trust funded program that commenced in 1996. It is a joint initiative of the Department of Land and Water Conservation and the Hawkesbury Nepean Catchment Management Trust and is aimed to improve government and community management of the river corridor between Penrith and Wiseman's Ferry. Initiatives include community education and field days, advisory services, re-vegetation programs, and establishment of demonstration sites in co-operation with landholders showing best management practices for riparian zone management. The projected Trust funding in 2000-2001 is $187,000.

The Environment Protection Authority will allocate grants totalling $292,000 for the Stormwater Trust for stormwater remediation and associated projects in Western Sydney in 2000-2001.

NSW Fisheries will continue its initiatives in 2000-2001 on the Fisheries Habitat Protection Plan for the Hawkesbury-Nepean River System and the Fisheries Aquatic Habitat Management and Fish Conservation Policy and Guidelines.

The Environment Protection Authority will continue with the Blue Mountains Urban Run-off Control Program in 2000-2001 with an allocation of a further $1 million to control stormwater impacts and to address environmental concerns such as soil erosion, siltation, seed disbursement and pollution of the natural water course.

Parks, Gardens, Reserves and Forests

The National Parks and Wildlife Service will allocate $390,000 in 2000-2001 on its on-going program of biodiversity surveys and threatened species recovery planning and protection in Western Sydney.

In 2000-2001, the Government will commit around $10.5 million to Regional Parks, National Parks and Nature Reserves in Western Sydney. These include:

- ◆ Western Sydney Regional Park, Horsley Park, $2 million for continuing the establishment of the park and for the provision of additional park visitor facilities;
- ◆ Parramatta Regional Park, $800,000 for landscaping, road and cycleway improvements;
- ◆ Rouse Hill Regional Park, $800,000 for the provision of additional picnic facilities, walking tracks and signage;
- ◆ Leacock Regional Park, Casula, $450,000 for continuing the establishment of the park and for the construction of bicycle paths and archaeological works;
- ◆ William Howe Regional Park, Narellan Vale, $600,000 for bush regeneration, erosion control, fencing, signage and park access and circulation infrastructure;
- ◆ Lower Prospect Canal, $1.3 million for landscaping and construction of footpaths and cycleway;
- ◆ Yellomundee Regional Park, $350,000 for the preparation of a Plan of Management, improved access, fire and pest management programs and visitor facilities. A further 480 hectares will be added to the Park;
- ◆ Blue Mountains National Park, Lower Mountains, $300,000 for additions to the Park, including visitor facility upgrade; walking track maintenance; sign posting; fire, weed and pest management; and access road, car park and fire trail maintenance. In addition, the replacement of pit toilets with composting toilets in environmentally sensitive areas will be continued, as well as the upgrade of pump-out and septic systems with connection to sewage mains, at an estimated cost of $370,000;
- ◆ $1.5 million expenditure on Blue Mountains National Parks and Nature Reserves for on-going program of improvements to signage, interpretation and visitor information and pest, fire and wildlife management programs within Blue Mountains, Nattai Reserves, Yengo and Wollemi National Parks. 1,200 hectares of Crown land will be added to the Blue Mountains National Park to protect the scenically prominent eastern escarpment, as well as rare species and Aboriginal sites;
- ◆ An additional 70 hectares of land will be added to the Mulgoa Nature Reserve as added protection of one of the largest remaining remnants of the endangered community "Cumberland Plain Woodland"; and
- ◆ $2 million expenditure on Cumberland Plain National Parks and Nature Reserves for ongoing program of improvements to signage, interpretation and visitor information and pest, fire and wildlife management programs within Scheyville National Park, Bents Basin State Recreation Area, Windsor Downs Nature Reserve and Pitt Town Lagoon Nature Reserve.

The Government will spend $20 million in Western Sydney under the Sydney Region Development Fund in 2000-2001. Initiatives for the fund include an estimated $500,000 for the Metropolitan Greenspace Program and $639,000 under the Greening of Western Sydney Program. These programs will improve the amenity for the residents of the region through the provision of additional open space and the enhancement of existing open space. Expenditure on property acquisition for the year is expected to be approximately $15 million. Commonwealth Bushcare Grants have been extended into 2001 and funding is anticipated to be $639,000.

State Forests of NSW will spend some $600,000 on operations and services provided to the community at the Cumberland State Forest at West Pennant Hills. Also located at West Pennant Hills is the Forest Research and Development Division which has an annual budget of $7.2 million. The Division's library is available to the community. The Research Division has a research focus on forest management and improvement, wildlife and habitat protection, forest carbon dynamics, biomass and bio-energy, mine site rehabilitation and water catchment health and re-forestation to address environmental problems like soil and water salinity.

The Mount Annan Botanical Garden has been allocated $300,000 in 2000-2001 for infrastructure maintenance. In addition, $100,000 has been allocated for the provision of improved visitor facilities at the Mount Tomah Botanical Garden.

The Bicentennial Park Trust is responsible for the management of Parklands at Homebush Bay. In 2000-2001 the Trust has been allocated $3 million in recurrent funding and $4.5 million in capital funding. The Trust continues to generate approximately $500,000 in income, which is used to subsidise the range of services provided at the Park. Specifically, the Trust facilitates environmental education, eco-tourism, events and retail services that support local business. The Park is a high quality site which adds to Greater Western Sydney tourism, leisure and education services. The Park continues to protect significant conservation and natural heritage values in Western Sydney, particularly along the waterways of Homebush Bay and the Parramatta River.

Heritage

Stage 2 of the Cumberland Plain Regional Aboriginal Heritage Strategy will improve Aboriginal heritage management in Western Sydney through the identification of sensitive areas and the development of strategic planning mechanisms. $100,000 has been allocated for the strategy in 2000-2001.

Funding is being provided through the NSW Heritage Office under both the NSW Heritage 2001 Program for large conservation work projects and the NSW Heritage Assistance Program aimed at a wider range of generally smaller projects. Over the last 4 years $21 million has been made available in 1,281 grants and loans for heritage projects. New South Wales has the largest State heritage funding program in Australia.

Projects in Western Sydney where expenditure is expected to occur in 2000-2001 are:

- ◆ $50,000 to Bankstown Council for conservation work to main street of Bankstown under the NSW Heritage 2001 Program;
- ◆ The former St Bartholomews Anglican Church at Prospect. The first stage of this project by Blacktown City Council will cost around $330,000, of which $50,000 is being provided by a heritage grant. Major funding is also being provided through the Commonwealth's Federation funding program;
- ◆ $300,000 in grants over 3 years to conserve and adapt the former Hawkesbury Hospital site at Windsor - a $1 million project under the 1998 NSW Heritage 2001 Program;

- ◆ $400,000 over 3 years to Parramatta City Council to implement a Cultural Landscape Masterplan for Harris Park under the 1998 NSW Heritage 2001 Program;
- ◆ $1 million over 3 years for conservation work on the Female Orphanage at Rydalmere. This is a $1.5 million project under the 1998 NSW Heritage 2001 Program;
- ◆ A grant of almost $39,000 to the Richmond Anglican Parish to replace the slate roof of St. Peter's Church under the 1998 NSW Heritage 2001 Program; and
- ◆ Various grants from $10,000 up to $32,000 for: the Wivenhoe Stables at Camden; the Studley Park House at Narellan; conservation work to the Old Ford Road, (Campbelltown City Council); expenses associated with the Great North Road, (Hawkesbury City Council); the review of the existing list of heritage items by Hawkesbury City Council; the Windsor Anglican Parish Rectory stables; the restoration of Collingwood House at Liverpool; the Richmond Main Street Program; the renewal and installation of adequate stormwater drainage to the 1839 St. Stephen's Anglican Church at Penrith

The Heritage Office will relocate to the former Kings School in 2001. The building will be restored to provide a sympathetic adaptive re-use for this significant heritage asset in Western Sydney and to provide cost effective publicly accessible accommodation for the Heritage Office and the Heritage Council. The restoration will be undertaken as an investment of the Heritage Conservation Fund with expenditure of $2.4 million in 2000-2001.

Waste Management

In 2000-2001, the Western Sydney Waste Board and the Macarthur Waste Board will be allocated $2.3 million from the Waste Planning and Management Fund, administered by the Environment Protection Authority, to assist with the boards' operations and the implementation of regional waste plans for 2000-01 to 2002-03.

The Waste Planning and Management Fund also provides Community Waste Reduction Grants to a maximum of $100,000. Grants are open to the commercial and industrial sectors (small to medium-sized businesses) for waste avoidance and/or re-use projects to minimise wood, paper, food and/or plastic wastes. This target area is particularly relevant to many businesses in Western Sydney.

Mine Rehabilitation

Following the closure of the Oakdale Colliery in 1999, the Department of Mineral Resources has identified the tasks necessary to complete the rehabilitation of the site and to protect the local environment and the water supply catchment. Steps have been taken to maintain the security of the site and to address adverse environmental impacts, such as on-site oil leaks.

The Department is negotiating an agreement to make safe and rehabilitate the site. The work, to commence in 2000-2001, will be partly funded by the mine owner's security deposit held by the Department and supplemented by funds from the Derelict Mines Rehabilitation Program. Total expenditure for the project is expected to be in excess of $750,000. The work will make a positive contribution to the Government's aim of protecting the environment in Western Sydney.

3.4 BETTER GOVERNMENT SERVICES

Western Sydney is one of the fastest growing regions in the nation and its development socially, economically, environmentally and culturally is of great importance to the Government. One of the key roles of the Minister for Western Sydney is to work with other Ministers to ensure Government outcomes and improved services are delivered in Western Sydney.

In 2000-2001, the Government will continue the better delivery of its programs, initiatives and services in Western Sydney. These are summarised below. Agencies delivering government services within the region include, the Premier's Department, the Department of Transport, Roads and Traffic Authority, Department of Fair Trading, Attorney General's Department, Rural Fire Service, NSW Fire Brigades and the Department of Industrial Relations.

Premier's Department

Premier's Department has several major 'place-managed' projects and regional co-ordination initiatives in Western and South Western Sydney. The total budget allocation for these regional initiatives is $830,000.

Regional Co-ordination Program. Under the State-wide Regional Co-ordination Program, Regional Co-ordinators lead and support projects that require cross-agency co-ordination and that have demonstrable benefit for the people, the economy, the infrastructure and/or the environment of the region. In 2000-2001, the Western Sydney Regional Co-ordinator will continue working with government agencies and key stakeholders on multi-faceted issues including:

- ◆ the development of major employment lands under the State Environmental Planning Policy 59 – "Central Western Sydney Economic and Employment Area";
- ◆ Parramatta major developments;
- ◆ improved human services planning and delivery (with Department of Urban Affairs and Planning (DUAP) and human services agencies);
- ◆ travel access and promotion pilot (in partnership with DUAP, Department of Transport and local councils);
- ◆ government agencies' joint contribution to implementing the Mt Druitt Action Plan;
- ◆ the "Social Exclusion" factors research project and pilots (partnership with the University of Western Sydney and the Department of Housing);
- ◆ follow-up activities from the Non-English Speaking Background Natural Resource workshop; and
- ◆ implementation of Stage 2 of "Job Rich- Job Poor" travel access pilot project.

During 2000-2001 the South Western Sydney Regional Co-ordinator will be undertaking:

- ◆ the Textile, Clothing and Footwear industry strategy, to improve the working conditions of outworkers, will be further developed and implemented;
- ◆ a community renewal strategy for the Macarthur area will be developed in consultation with relevant State and local government agencies;

- ◆ an Outdoor Recreation Strategy and Plan will be developed, in conjunction with key agencies in the environment as well as the human services sector;
- ◆ support of the place projects in Cabramatta and Canterbury-Bankstown will continue; and
- ◆ working with DUAP and the human services agencies to ensure adequate planning for new urban release areas.

Cabramatta Project. The Cabramatta Project was established as a partnership between the NSW Premier's Department and Fairfield City Council in 1997 to develop an effective and co-ordinated response to the broad range of concerns of the people who live, work and visit Cabramatta. The Project has focussed on four key strategic issues:

- ◆ drug treatment and law and order,
- ◆ vocational training and employment for young people,
- ◆ tourism development, and
- ◆ improvements to urban amenity and infrastructure.

In 2000-2001 the Project will continue with the involvement of Fairfield City Council's Place Manager. The focus on the next stage of the Project will be on ensuring that the achievements in the first two years are sustained by agencies, business and the community. The Project has developed whole-of-government initiatives designed to deliver outcomes and has adopted a collaborative approach involving a number of government and non-government agencies.

Canterbury-Bankstown Project. The Working Group for this project finalised an Action Plan in 1999 which includes a commitment to on-going whole-of-government co-ordination facilitated by the Premier's Department. It covers a wide range of actions designed to address police, community and youth relations.

The Regional Coordinator for South West Sydney convenes a regular meeting of area managers of key State agencies, local government and key non-government organisations to oversee progress with implementation of the Action Plan and to guide further development of collaborative initiatives. These meetings address youth and family support issues such as crime prevention, vocational training and employment, sporting and cultural facilities, case management and co-ordination.

Fair Trading and Consumer Protection

In 2000-2001, the Department of Fair Trading will allocate $423,000 to the Tenants Advice and Advocacy Program. There are two services which offer information, advice and advocacy to Western Sydney tenants, the Western Sydney Tenants Service located at Harris Park and the South West Tenants Advice Service located at Liverpool. The services also offer community education programs and assist with cases in the Residential Tribunal. The Program focuses on tenants in risk groups including Aboriginal tenants, tenants of non-English speaking and culturally diverse backgrounds, older tenants, tenants in supported accommodation and tenants with disabilities.

The Home Building Grants Program commenced in 1999 and provides funding to education and training initiatives or research projects which enhance the relationship between home builders and consumers, enhance the professionalism of the industry, or provide support to apprentices. The allocation to the Program for Western Sydney in 2000-2001 is $350,000.

Financial counselling services will continue to be provided by the Government in Western Sydney at an estimated cost of $310,000 in 2000-2001. The services include the Credit Counselling Program, which provides financial counselling and consumer credit legal advice and the NSW Financial Counselling Trust Fund, established with funds derived from monetary penalties imposed on credit providers by the Fair Trading Tribunal. Interest earned on the Trust Fund is allocated for the provision of financial counselling, training of people in financial counselling and for education in personal finance management.

In 2000-2001, the Residential Tribunal will be funded to the extent of $950,000 in Western Sydney. The Tribunal will continue to hear applications in Penrith, Blacktown, Campbelltown, Liverpool and Katoomba and expects to receive approximately 15,000 applications.

The Fair Trading Tribunal was established in March 1999 and its jurisdiction combines those of the former Commercial Tribunal, Consumer Claims Tribunal, Building Disputes Tribunal and Motor Vehicle Repair Disputes Committee. In 2000-2001, $2 million has been allocated to the Tribunal in Western Sydney where it conducts hearings at Parramatta, Penrith and Liverpool.

Western Sydney consumers and traders are well served by four Fair Trading Centres located at Penrith, Blacktown, Liverpool and Parramatta. The Centres provide information and assistance on the full range of services offered by the Department of Fair Trading. This includes consumer information and complaint handling relating to fair trading, home building, tenancy and motor vehicles. Fair Trading Centres assist to resolve issues locally and at no cost to the client. Fair Trading Centres also provide access to business names registration, building licenses, lodgement of Fair Trading Tribunal and Residential Tribunal applications and Register of Encumbered Vehicles services. The 2000-2001 operating budget for the Fair Trading Centres located in Western Sydney is almost $3.7 million.

Emergency Services

To continue the better management of the flood risk between Warragamba Dam and Broken Bay, $13.75 million will be allocated in 2000-2001 for Western Sydney floodplain management projects funded through the Hawkesbury-Nepean Floodplain Management Strategy. In addition, a further $3 million will be expended on various floodplain management projects in Western Sydney under the Government's Western Sydney Floodplain Management Program.

The State Emergency Service will be allocating funds to various programs in Western Sydney in 2000-2001. They include:

- ◆ Motor Vehicle Subsidies for regional SES Units to replace existing vehicles - $75,000;
- ◆ Rescue Equipment - vital life saving and response equipment is provided to the Volunteer Service to enable effective, efficient and timely relief of personal distress at times of natural and man-made disasters. As part of this policy three new flood boats, including motors and trailers, will be provided - $60,000;
- ◆ Protective Clothing (overalls, boots and helmets) for Volunteers to ensure Occupational Health and Safety standards are met - $31,000
- ◆ Installation of a computer at each SES unit - $60,000.

The allocation of $91 million to the Rural Fire Fighting Fund will allow the accelerated tanker replacement program to continue. In 2000-2001, the first $4 million instalment of a $12 million program to refit existing vehicles with fire protection systems including fire blankets, will be allocated. Councils across Western Sydney will receive a significant share of this increased funding.

Industrial Relations

During 2000-2001, the Government will be allocating $1.98 million to support industrial relations services in Western Sydney. The Department of Industrial Relations' Western Sydney Contact Centre (Parramatta) and South Western Sydney Contact Centre (Bankstown) will continue to provide assistance to individual Western Sydney employers and employees with workplace difficulties. The Centres will also undertake targeted activities in key industries and occupations in Western Sydney through award education and compliance campaigns. The Department will also provide educative activities and best employment practice advice through Workplace Change NSW, a specialist unit that is increasingly targeting its services to employers in Western Sydney.

Justice and Legal Aid

The Legal Aid Commission has seven regional offices in Western Sydney at Bankstown, Blacktown, Campbelltown, Fairfield, Liverpool, Parramatta and Penrith (including the Penrith Children's Legal Service). These offices provide legal advice and assistance to all residents of Western Sydney, irrespective of means. They also provide representation services in the Criminal, Family and Civil Law jurisdictions, subject to the Commission's policies and means and merit tests. Interpreters for non-English speaking background clients are arranged as required. The combined budget for the Western Sydney Legal Aid offices in 2000-2001 is $12.5 million.

Survey Services

The Land Information Centre of the Department of Information Technology and Management will spend a further $300,000 to complete its current two year program to provide new edition topographic maps and digital information for Western Sydney. As part of an ongoing program, a further $500,000 will be provided for digital subdivision and boundary mapping that will facilitate planning and land management in Western Sydney.

The accuracy of the coordinates of all survey control marks in the Hawkesbury, Liverpool and Blacktown local government areas will be upgraded at a cost of $100,000.

Transport

In 2000-2001, Western Sydney will benefit from Sydney-wide transport improvements including:

$25 million on the posting of security guards on every CityRail train from 7 pm until the service closes each night. This includes on-train security during the Sydney 2000 Olympic Games;

Installation of surveillance cameras on all metropolitan Government and private buses; and

$1.5 million for the Integrated Transport Information Service.

WorkCover

A restructure of WorkCover's Occupational Health and Safety Division has resulted in the establishment of industry-based teams in each of the metropolitan offices, including those in Western Sydney. The teams are multi disciplinary and include auditors, inspectors, specialist technical and scientific staff such as ergonomists, hygienists and engineers, project officers and industry liaison officers. WorkCover's Parramatta office is the Administrative Centre for the Construction Industry Team and the Liverpool office is the Administrative Centre for the Manufacturing Industry Team. The Occupational Health and Safety Education Unit, which provides training to industry on all occupational health and safety matters, is also located at Parramatta. In 2000-2001, WorkCover anticipates that its Western Sydney operational expenditure will be in excess of $6 million.

CHAPTER 4 OLYMPICS BUDGET – WESTERN SYDNEY

The opening of the Tennis Centre in December 1999 brought to a close the NSW Government's five year venue construction program at Homebush Bay. By May 2000, all Olympic facilities in Western Sydney will have been completed. No other Olympic City had finished the permanent sporting facilities so early and at the same time provided such an impressive legacy for its residents. The Olympic and Paralympic Games sporting venues and facilities constructed by the Olympic Co-ordination Authority are world class. At the completion of the Games, the facilities will continue as outstanding venues for major sporting and entertainment events for the people of Western Sydney, New South Wales and Australia.

Homebush Bay is a popular destination for the people of Sydney and visitors alike since completion of the Sydney International Aquatic and Athletic Centres, together with the new home of the Royal Easter Show at the Homebush Showground. Stadium Australia, the Olympic Stadium, became operational in March 1999 and has proved to be an extremely popular venue, not only for major sporting events, but for concerts, seminars and special functions such as the Western Sydney Industry Awards Presentation Gala Dinner and the 2000 Anniversary celebration of the Catholic Church, both held in March this year.

The Olympic venues and major support infrastructure now completed and operational include:

- ◆ Sydney Showground and exhibition complex – host to baseball, badminton, rhythmic gymnastics, handball, fencing, judo, modern pentathlon and the main press centre during the Games.
- ◆ Sydney International Archery Park.
- ◆ State Hockey Centre.
- ◆ Stadium Australia – host to opening and closing ceremonies, the football final and the track and field program during the Games.
- ◆ Sydney SuperDome – host to basketball finals and artistic gymnastic finals during the Games.
- ◆ NSW Tennis Centre.
- ◆ Olympic Park Railway Station.
- ◆ Homebush Bay Wharf.
- ◆ Dunc Gray Velodrome at Bankstown.
- ◆ Sydney International Shooting Centre at Liverpool.
- ◆ Blacktown Olympic Centre that will host women's softball and be the "second" baseball venue for the Games plus athlete training facilities.
- ◆ Sydney International Equestrian Centre.
- ◆ Penrith Whitewater Stadium.
- ◆ Sydney International Aquatic and Athletic Centre.
- ◆ Sydney International Regatta Centre.

The main precinct for the Olympics and Paralympics is Sydney Olympic Park at Homebush Bay located on the doorstep of Western Sydney and in the geographical centre of Sydney.

The number of people estimated to have worked on Olympic construction projects in Western Sydney and Homebush Bay is over 100,000. More than 40,000 people have been involved on Olympic construction sites, with twice that number employed in supporting jobs off-site. More than a thousand people are now employed on site in permanent and casual working roles. This is being mirrored throughout Western Sydney as each Olympic venue is completed and made operational.

After the Paralympics, Stadium Australia's seating capacity will be reduced from 110,000 to 80,000. An amount of $13 million has been allocated in 2000-2001 to undertake this work.

The Olympic Village for the Sydney 2000 Olympic and Paralympic Games will be an international environmental landmark. The Village is one of the world's largest solar powered communities, setting the standard for future urban development. After the Games, the modular housing will be removed and further staged construction will increase the total number of dwellings to 2,000 to house an estimated 5,000 people. Recreation areas, medical centres and other facilities developed especially for the Games will subsequently become a primary school, community facilities and a retail complex.

In addition to the outstanding facilities at Homebush Bay, the NSW Government is contributing approximately $317 million towards the construction of Olympic and Paralympic sporting venues, as well as the Lidcombe Media village, at various locations in Western Sydney.

The most significant legacies of the Olympic and Paralympic Games will be the massive improvement to sporting facilities in Western Sydney and greatly improved public transport access to major sporting and entertainment events for the people of Western Sydney.

Environmental Initiatives

Sydney's western regions will have some of the most environmentally friendly sporting venues in the world at the time of the Olympic Games. The protection of threatened species, regeneration of the Cumberland Plain woodland and reduction of greenhouse gases have all been key factors in the development of Olympic venues in Sydney's West.

The Olympic Co-ordination Authority scored its best result yet with an average of 8.5 out of 10 for its environmental performance in the third and final Earth Council review to be completed before the Olympic and Paralympic Games. The report highly scored OCA's work in the areas of energy and water conservation, protecting air, water and soil quality, ecological studies and regeneration programs.

Wilson Park will reopen to the public by the end of 2000 after eight years of closure. It is a 12 hectare recreation area on the Parramatta River, linked along the river frontage to Homebush Bay.

Millennium Parklands will be one of the major legacies of the Olympic and Paralympic Games. It comprises more than 100 hectares of wetlands and waterways covering Homebush Bay. The clean-up and innovative landscaping of landfill areas, including some contaminated land, and the introduction of a site-web ecological program have helped transform the waterways and wetlands into thriving aquatic habitats. The wetlands have proved a successful habitat for fauna such as the threatened Green and Golden Bell Frog and a range of bird species.

Homebush Bay is leading the world in the implementation of strategies to save water. Water conservation initiatives will eventually halve the amount of water required for the site, reducing the demand on Sydney's supply of drinking water.

The Water Reclamation Scheme (WRAMS) is an important environmental initiative which will meet the commitment to maximise the use of recycled water around Homebush Bay. The Scheme will provide 800 megalitres of treated stormwater and sewage effluent each year, to be used primarily for toilet flushing and irrigation. This will reduce the demand on Sydney's water supply by 50 per cent across Homebush Bay and Newington.

Olympic venues have also been designed to reduce water use. They feature water-saving devices, such as dual flush toilets and non-drip taps, as well as water saving techniques such as roof-recycling systems which collect rain water for use in irrigation.

Transport

Public transport access to Homebush Bay has been an integral feature of planning for the development of the Olympic site. Homebush Bay is accessible via the new rail loop to Olympic Park station. Regular bus services to Strathfield, Lidcombe and Parramatta serve the site and ferry services are also available.

The Olympic Roads and Transport Authority was established by the Government to co-ordinate the planning and delivery of transport services during the Olympic and Paralympic Games as well as for Special Events at Homebush Bay. The Authority has introduced Park and Ride facilities, which incorporate the provision of special car parks in close proximity to Regional Bus Services. These Park and Ride facilities and cross-regional bus routes servicing Homebush Bay will be supplemented by additional bus services and park and ride sites to service Olympic and Paralympic Western sporting venues in Western Sydney.

The Sydney 2000 Games will involve the biggest continuing demand for travel, especially by rail, ever experienced in Australia. The Olympic Roads and Transport Authority has produced Olympic Venue Transport Plans which detail how local communities around each venue will be protected through special event parking schemes and other traffic management measures. The Plans assist with Games time planning for those who work, deliver goods or have customers or clients in venue areas.

Water

Sydney Water has been working closely with the Olympic Co-ordination Authority to provide water and waste water services for a number of key Olympic venues in Western Sydney. These venues include the:

- ◆ Sydney International Equestrian Centre;
- ◆ Softball stadium at Aquilina Reserve;
- ◆ Penrith Regatta Centre and Whitewater Rafting Centre; and
- ◆ Sydney International Shooting Centre.

Servicing of these venues is generally now complete. However, Sydney Water is continuing to work closely with the Olympic Co-ordination Authority to ensure the servicing needs for the "Olympic Overlay" at each of these venues is also addressed. Olympic Overlay is the temporary facilities being provided at each venue for the Games period. In addition to servicing the new venues, Sydney Water is currently preparing plans aimed to ensure that it can fulfil its obligations to all customers and international visitors in Western Sydney, whilst dealing with the extraordinary demands and constraints on its business during the Olympic period.

Sydney Water is planning to have all critical staff available during the Olympic period and plans to conduct simulation exercises to test its plans. Sydney Water has also been working closely with the Olympic Security Command Centre, reviewing its security arrangements for the Olympic period.

CHAPTER 5: OUTCOMES OF 1999-2000 BUDGET INITIATIVES

This 2000-2001 Western Sydney Budget Statement again reports on the outcomes of the Government's Budget commitments from the previous year. This presents a comprehensive picture of Government funding to Western Sydney and enables the effectiveness of its programs and expenditure to be measured.

1999-2000 INITIATIVE	OUTCOME
MINISTER FOR WESTERN SYDNEY The Government will fund the operations of the Office of Western Sydney to the extent of $1 million in 1999-2000.	$1 million was expended on implementing Office of Western Sydney initiatives in 1999-2000: <ul style="list-style-type: none"> ◆ The Western Sydney Industry Awards target industries which are critical to the growth and economic development of Western Sydney. The Awards Presentation Gala Dinner was held at Stadium Australia on 24 March 2000 before an audience of just under 1,000 people. ◆ Corporate Partners for Change trains unemployed people for jobs, traineeships and apprenticeships to young people in Western Sydney. Corporate Partners for Change is funded by the Department of Education and Training. Since October 1998, 145 people have been employed in areas such as information technology, retail, electrical, general engineering, motor vehicle tyre and wheel alignment and the call centre industry. ◆ Advancing Information Technology in Western Sydney Industry Conference was held in 1999 at Parramatta. This initiative was developed in partnership with the Australian Information Industry Association, the Australian Computer Society, the Australian Industry Group, the Office of Information Technology and the University of Western Sydney. IT initiatives from the conference are detailed in Chapter 2 of this Statement. ◆ The Western Sydney Environment Strategy, developed in 1999, is detailed in Chapter 3 of this Statement under Protecting the Environment. ◆ The Western Sydney Arts Strategy was launched in November 1999 and details are set out in Chapter 3 of this Statement under Supporting families and communities. ◆ Initiatives for Women in Western Sydney. In partnership with the Departments for Women and State and Regional Development, The Office of Western Sydney provided training for 93 women in small business in Western Sydney through three workshops on Using the Internet as a Business Tool. 86 young women from Western Sydney were mentored by 18 local businesswomen at an Australis Self made Girl workshop on the challenges and benefits of owning and managing their own business.

1999-2000 INITIATIVE	OUTCOME
SECURING JOBS AND INVESTMENT Public Infrastructure $65 million has been allocated for the development and maintenance of corrective services facilities in 1999-2000. Development will proceed on a new Periodic Detention Centre at the Parklea Correctional Centre and the construction of a new Transport Unit at Silverwater. Projects commencing in 1999-2000 include a Correctional Centre for Women at Windsor and the Parklea Remand Centre.	Expenditure in 1999-2000 was: <ul style="list-style-type: none"> ◆ Parklea Periodic Detention Centre, $2.19 million. The Centre, to be completed in June 2000, accommodates 80 detainees in an alternative program to full-time imprisonment. ◆ Windsor Correctional Centre for Women, $2.5 million. The Centre will be part of a program pathway for women which will complement the existing centres at Mulawa and Emu Plains. It will accommodate 200 inmates and is due for completion in mid 2002. ◆ Parklea Correctional Centre, $7 million. The Centre is being expanded to accommodate an additional 200 inmates. The Centre will be a Young Offenders Remand facility and will be an annex to the Metropolitan Remand and Reception Centre at Silverwater when completed in early 2002. ◆ John Moroney Correctional Centre, Windsor, $1.82 million. The Centre accommodates 300 inmates and was completed in late 1999. ◆ Emu Plains facility for female inmates, $2.59 million. A 70 bed unit was completed in July 1999 and a new 50 bed unit is due for completion by September 2000. ◆ Silverwater Transport Unit, $2 million. The project completion date is April 2001.
Over $24 million is proposed to be spent for major new school education facilities, including new schools at Currans Hill, Wattle Grove, Hoxton Park, Harrington Park and Kellyville and replacement schools at Camden and Quakers Hill. In addition, an estimated $28 million will be expended on school building maintenance.	Over $24 million was spent in 1999-2000 on the construction of major new school education facilities at Currans Hill, Wattle Grove and Kellyville. Replacement schools have been built at Camden and Quakers Hill. Planning is well advanced for new schools at Hoxton Park and Harrington Park, with construction to commence towards the end of 2000. $28 million was spent on school building maintenance.
A total of $20.3 million is proposed to be spent on the development and refurbishment of TAFE facilities at Bankstown, Baulkham Hills, Campbelltown, Granville, Kingswood, Mount Druitt, Richmond, Quakers Hill and Wetherill Park.	$20.8 million has been spent on the development and refurbishment of TAFE facilities at these locations.

1999-2000 INITIATIVE	OUTCOME
During 1999-2000, seven new Fire Brigade Stations will be constructed at Bonnyrigg Heights, Horsley Park, Horningsea Park, Regentville, Cranebrook, Huntingwood and Schofields at a cost of $9.05 million. In addition, land will be purchased in 1999-2000 for the future relocation of fire stations from Northmead to Baulkham Hills ($225,000), from Castle Hill to Glenhaven ($225,000) and from Fairfield to Yennora ($225,000).	<ul style="list-style-type: none"> ◆ Bonnyrigg Heights: Construction will be complete in August 2000. ◆ Horsley Park: Negotiations with Council are underway to identify an appropriate site. ◆ Regentville and Horningsea Park: Construction was completed in March 2000. ◆ Cranebrook, Schofields, Glenhaven, Venora and Baulkham Hills: Potential sites are being investigated. ◆ Huntingwood: Construction was completed in April 2000. The seven new and three relocated Fire Stations will result in a more equitable distribution of firefighting and emergency resources across Western Sydney. The outcomes for residents include an increased capability of the New South Wales Fire Brigades to: save life and property and reduce the number of injuries; minimise property damage; and promote fire safety and prevention.
Over $98.6 million is allocated for health related capital works in Western Sydney including facilities at Camden, Campbelltown, Blacktown, the Blue Mountains, Mt Druitt, Penrith and Westmead.	Planned completion dates for hospital developments are: <ul style="list-style-type: none"> ◆ Camden - September 2001; ◆ Campbelltown - November 2003; ◆ Blacktown - May 2000; ◆ Blue Mountains - April 2000; and ◆ Penrith (stage 2) - November 2001. In addition, Mt Druitt Hospital ward refurbishment is to take place and new community care and palliative care centres have been completed. The new Women's and Children's Health Building at Penrith became operational in February 2000 and initial planning for the new Westmead Procedural Centre has commenced with construction due to start in 2001.

1999-2000 INITIATIVE	OUTCOME
In 1999-2000, $23.9 million has been allocated both to the Department of Housing and the Office of Community Housing for the construction or purchase of housing in Western Sydney for people on low incomes. In addition, the Department will receive $53.57 million for capital improvements to existing housing stock in the region.	In 1999-2000, 555 new capital properties were commenced in Western Sydney and a further 297 properties were leased to provide additional government subsidised housing to eligible, low income households. Utilising newly completed dwellings, newly leased dwellings and properties vacated within existing stock, more than 3,700 households were allocated public and community housing. In addition, more than 8,300 households were assisted with some of the costs of private rental. This included private rental subsidies for more than 200 people with special needs, (people living with a disability or HIV/AIDS). During 1999-2000 more than 6,900 public and community housing properties were improved.
Landcom will contribute $23 million to the implementation of water, sewer and trunk drainage infrastructure for the Rouse Hill residential land development in 1999-2000. In addition, Landcom is developing greenfield estates throughout the region with a total value of $21 million.	Landcom has given a commitment for $23 million over a five year period to the implementation of infrastructure for the Rouse Hill residential land development. In 1999-2000, approximately $1.1 million was expended.
In 1999-2000, $3.1 million is allocated for the new $4 million Auburn and $4.3 million Narellan Police Stations, both due for completion in June 2000.	The Auburn facility is due for completion in July 2000. Plans for a new police station at Narellan have been delayed with the Council.
The Department of Public Works and Services is co-ordinating the Parramatta Government Property Strategy and the redevelopment opportunities to be realised from the disposal of government-owned sites in 1999-2000. These include the potential redevelopment by the private sector of the Marsden Rehabilitation Centre and Parramatta Hospital sites.	The Strategy is a whole-of-government asset and accommodation initiative to bring about the management, redevelopment and disposal of significant NSW Government land holdings in Parramatta. The Strategy is moving towards implementation and procurement in 2000-2001 for the three key sites, namely Parramatta Hospital, Marsden Rehabilitation Centre and North Parramatta Mixed Use precinct.
Funding of more than $160 million will be provided in 1999-2000 under the Western Sydney Roads Improvement Program.	The Roads and Traffic Authority will be spending in excess of $160 million on works under the Western Sydney Roads Program (see details under Better Government Services of this Outcomes report).
$26 Million will be allocated in 1999-2000 for the Parramatta to Chatswood Rail Link.	The allocation of $26 million was expended in 1999-2000. Consultations on the EIS are complete, detailed design of railway stations has commenced, and construction of the link is expected to commence in 2000-2001.

1999-2000 INITIATIVE	OUTCOME
The Sydney Catchment Authority will be continuing the major upgrade of the Warragamba Dam at an estimated total project cost of $150 million. The $90 million spillway contract is due for completion by December 2001, with expenditure in 1999-2000 to be in the order of $36 million.	Expenditure for 1999-2000 is forecast to be $36 million. The Warragamba Dam upgrade is on schedule and involves construction of an auxiliary spillway to divert floodwaters around the dam that will allow it to comply with international dam safety standards. Spillway benefits include preventing a dam break in extreme floods and protection of the water supply to the residents of Sydney, including Western Sydney. It is anticipated that the upgrade will create employment opportunities for up to 175 construction workers. A visitors viewing platform was completed in April 2000.
The Sydney Water Corporation will be undertaking a number of projects in the region in 1999-2000. These include: <ul style="list-style-type: none"> ◆ the continued construction of stage 1 of the Blue Mountains Backlog Sewerage Program with an allocation of $6 million; 	This $80 million project is being completed in two stages that will result in approximately 3,270 lots provided with modern sewerage services. Work on Stage 1 of the scheme (servicing 1,600 unsewered lots between Hazelbrook and North Katoomba) will be completed by June 2001. The construction of the sewerage works through very difficult terrain, takes into account the protection of the sensitive environment, including a range of endangered fauna and flora species. The Environmental Impact Statement for Stage 2 of the Blue Mountains Scheme was placed on public exhibition in 1998. Subject to approval of the EIS, it is expected that servicing of unsewered lots in the three townships of Blackheath, Mt Victoria and Medlow Bath will be completed by 2006.
<ul style="list-style-type: none"> ◆ the continuation of work on significant upgrades to Sewage Treatment Plants in the Hawkesbury-Nepean system. Expenditure will be $17.3 million; ◆ construction of a new sewage pumping station, rising main and sub-main to service the existing and growth areas of Hoxton Park, at a cost of $7 million; 	WaterPlan 21 is Sydney Water's twenty year vision for sustainable waste water management across the entire Sydney Region. The plan emphasises clear priorities and water quality goals, including the timeframe for delivery of the program. The plan will be beneficial for Western Sydney and will have a significant effect in the following ways: Protecting the Rivers: More than $400 million will be spent upgrading the 18 sewage treatment plants (STPs) that discharge to the Hawkesbury-Nepean River System. These works will service approximately 150,000 people, transferring sewage flows to Liverpool Sewage Treatment Plant. The target completion date is 2003.

1999-2000 INITIATIVE	OUTCOME
<ul style="list-style-type: none"> ◆ construction of major remedial works at the Potts Hill Reservoirs site with $12.7 million allocated for this work; ◆ Sewering of the Oaks, Oakdale and Bellambi Park villages at a cost of $3 million; and ◆ Construction of the $59 million Picton Regional Sewerage Scheme with over $23.1 million allocated in 1999-2000. 	This reservoir complex acts as a key distribution point for high quality potable water delivered from the Prospect Water Filtration Plant. Sydney Water recognises that the open reservoirs at Potts Hill were a potential source of contamination. Accordingly, it was decided to decommission Reservoir No. 1 and to upgrade and cover Reservoir No. 2. The final cost of the project will be approximately $25 million. This $26.5 million scheme will serve approximately 1,000 existing dwellings in these three villages which lie in the catchment of Werriberri Creek. This Creek flows into Lake Burragorang, the major source of Sydney's drinking water supply. Target date for completion of the scheme is late 2002. Using latest technologies, the plant has zero discharge during dry weather because it reuses water, resulting in a cleaner Upper Nepean River. This project provides reticulated sewerage services to 7,000 residents in the townships of Picton, Thirlmere and Tahmoor. Construction work for the scheme is complete.
State and Regional Development The Greater Western Sydney Economic Development Board will be funded by the Department of State and Regional Development to the extent of approximately $300,000 in 1999-2000. Significant projects will be the implementation of initiatives of the Greater Western Sydney Industry Strategy Development, the Onshore Import Replacement Program, Call Centre promotions, establishment of E-commerce and marketing of the Greater Western Sydney region and the Greater Western Sydney Trade and Investment Centre. In 1999-2000, it is expected that $0.5 million will be paid to businesses in Western Sydney in industry support payments under the Industries Assistance Fund.	A significant Board project in 1999-2000 has been the Greater Western Sydney (GWS) Marketing Program which included the establishment of the GWS Marketing Council, publication of GWS Investment Profile, production of a CD Rom on GWS, creation of an Online newsletter 'Media Net' and compilation of a GWS Statistical Guide. Other projects in the reporting year have been: the ongoing implementation of the GWS Industry Strategy, Import Replacement Analysis, Ongoing GWS Call Centre Promotions, Maintenance of GWS Internet Site, Quarterly Greater Western Sydney Economic Bulletin and Sponsorships for Western Sydney Industry Awards and Australian Design Awards. Industry support payments were provided to companies located in Western Sydney in 1999-2000 under the Industry Assistance Fund.

1999-2000 INITIATIVE	OUTCOME
Tourism Tourism job initiatives will include the $13 million facelift for Katoomba and Echo Point, of which the Government will provide $11 million.	Work on up-grading the historic Blue Mountains' town of Katoomba and the Echo Point lookout is proceeding with the Government committed to spending over $11 million up to 2002-2003. Over $200,000 has been spent on the project in 1999-2000. The redevelopment will further enhance Katoomba's tourism opportunities, creating potentially hundreds of new jobs. Up to 1.4 million tourists a year visit Echo Point, making it the most visited tourist site in the State. The Project Manager is employed by Blue Mountains City Council and his salary is paid from NSW Government funds for the project.
In 1999-2000, $330,000 will be available for tourism development in Western Sydney. Under the Government's Sydney Tourism Strategy the Sydney Tourism Development Experience Program will fund projects to assist local groups to promote their areas.	Funds were expended on: marketing development, tourism photography and media fact sheets to promote local tourism experiences through the Sydney Tourism Experience Development Program; tourism information database management at visitor information centres; dedicated staff resources to provide advice and assistance to local tourism industry; and domestic consumer marketing campaigns.
Skills Development and Resources Funding levels in 1999-2000 for the Western and South Western Sydney TAFE Institutes and the Bankstown, Padstow and Lidcombe colleges within the Southern Sydney TAFE Institute will support Institute profiles which reflect industry trends and customer needs.	Funding levels for 1999-2000 are as follows: <ul style="list-style-type: none"> ◆ $98.6 million for the Western Sydney Institute of TAFE; ◆ $104 million for the South Western Sydney Institute of TAFE; and ◆ $109.6 million for the Southern Sydney Institute of TAFE.
An estimated $4 million will be available to support Industry Training Programs in Western Sydney during 1999-2000 through the Department of Education and Training Industry Training Services Centres located at Bankstown, Liverpool and Parramatta.	The Olympic 2000 Industry Training Strategy outlines projected increases in skill workforce levels across key areas of Olympic Workforce needs – Tourism, Hospitality, Security, Transport, Arts and Broadcasting, Disability Awareness, Building and Construction and Property Services. Over $12 million is committed in Contracted Training Provision purchasing to September 2000.

1999-2000 INITIATIVE	OUTCOME
Information Technology The NSW Government's Homepage Service NSW (http://www.nsw.gov.au) provides useful and efficient access to government information and services and encourages the creation of employment and business opportunities.	This Government website provides community access to government information resources and services 24 hours a day, 7 days per week. More than 2,500 links (including NSW government websites) are linked to the homepage. In 1999-2000 the Department of Information Technology and Management's Office of Information Technology has continued to enhance the website by including online services as they become available.
Connect NSW is a whole-of-government strategy for the use of information technology to streamline internal government practices, reduce costs and improve service delivery for the NSW community. In 1999-2000, funding to the extent of $8.5 million has been allocated for this service. The Government Radio Network provides improved radio services to support the delivery of emergency and administrative services to communities, including Western Sydney. $0.925 million will be provided in 1999-2000 for upgrading the network.	Funding of $8.5 million in 1999-2000 was used to co-ordinate whole-of-government projects and fund selected agency projects that deliver enhanced services to the community and business. Key projects included: Connect funding program – a $5 million program established to assist agencies in meeting the Government's commitment for delivering all appropriate services online by 31 December 2001; <ul style="list-style-type: none"> ◆ Online projects such as a graffiti solutions State-wide hotline to report graffiti vandalism; online applications and payments for NSW Fisheries' licences and permits; Environment Protection Authority licenses; mining exploration licences; National Park annual passes; and car owners can now design their own number plates and pay for them through the RTA Website. ◆ Government Network Service (GNS) – contracts have been established with a range of private suppliers to deliver a high quality, whole-of-government data communications network service. Pilot projects include a high-speed link between Campbelltown and Camden Hospitals. $3.5 million was provided State-wide in 1999-2000 to continue to upgrade capacity and coverage, improve network resilience and digitisation of the Radio Network.

1999-2000 INITIATIVE	OUTCOME
Agriculture NSW Agriculture has four establishments in, or directly servicing Western Sydney targeting the industries of stone fruit, nursery, vegetable, dairy, turf, mushroom, horse, poultry and beef cattle. The total budget for these centres is around $22 million per annum.	These establishments had a total budget of some $28 million in 1999-2000. They have a direct effect on Western Sydney by providing employment, supporting primary producers and promoting a sustainable role for agriculture.
SUPPORTING FAMILIES AND COMMUNITIES Health <ul style="list-style-type: none"> ◆ Continuation of the Macarthur Sector Strategy - $13.6 million ($85.6 million total project cost); ◆ Complete the redevelopment of the Blacktown and Mt Druitt Hospitals at a cost of $96 million ($30.5 million in 1999-2000). ◆ Complete the stage two development of Nepean Hospital and open the new $40 million Women's and Children's Health Building ($12 million in 1999-2000). ◆ A new $5 million Procedural Centre to be established at Westmead Hospital to provide greater access to day only surgery ($1 million in 1999-2000). ◆ Establishment of new premises for Wilma Women's Centre in Campbelltown ($760,000); ◆ Neonatal Emergency Transport planning is continuing with expenditure in 1999-2000 of $1 million; 	The revised project cost for the Strategy is $100.5 million. The Camden Hospital Development tender was accepted in January 2000 with an expected completion date of September 2001. Historic building works are expected to be completed in March 2002. The Campbelltown Hospital development commenced in September 1998 and is due for completion in November 2003. $14.1 million is budgeted to be spent on the Strategy in 1999-2000. The new Blacktown Hospital, incorporating 374 beds, is complete. Some ward refurbishment is also taking place at Mt Druitt Hospital. Also on the Mt Druitt Hospital site, a community care centre and palliative care unit have been completed. $33.8 million will be spent in 1999-2000. The new Women's and Children's Health Building, completed in November 1999, became operational in February 2000. The total Stage 2 development of the Nepean Hospital is due for completion by November 2001. $15.1 million will be spent in 1999-2000. Initial planning for this Centre, which will provide a one-stop service for surgery patients, has commenced. Construction is due to start in 2001. Construction of this facility commenced in December 1999 and is expected to be completed by June 2000. Tenders were called in March 2000 for design of facilities to provide accommodation for neonatal emergency transport and Childflight with a helipad at Westmead Hospital. The project is expected to be completed in 2001.

1999-2000 INITIATIVE	OUTCOME
<ul style="list-style-type: none"> ◆ The Blue Mountains Hospital upgrade ($1.2 million); 	Construction of a new Emergency Department and upgrading of the Operating Theatre complex was completed in April 2000.
<ul style="list-style-type: none"> ◆ NSW Breast Cancer Institute at Westmead ($2.4 million); 	The project will provide accommodation for the administrative and research components of the Breast Cancer Institute. Planning work is being finalised and construction is anticipated to commence in January 2001 and works completed by October 2001.
<ul style="list-style-type: none"> ◆ Westmead Institutes of Health, ($6.2 million); 	Construction of a new research institute to provide accommodation and laboratory space for virus research, the Storr Liver Unit Institute of Cancer Research Administration and the Westmead Hospital Research Foundation, was completed in April 2000.
<ul style="list-style-type: none"> ◆ Bodington Hospital Nursing Home Wentworth Falls, ($4 million); and 	This development will provide an 80 bed aged care facility with 40 community care packages for frail aged and those with mild dementia. Construction is expected to be completed by August 2000.
<ul style="list-style-type: none"> ◆ Y2K Millennium Bug Rectification ($12.3 million); 	A major use of these funds was the comprehensive testing and active integrity monitoring of IT application systems and interfaces and associated data both before and after the New Year and Leap Year transactions. This was to ensure that there would be no adverse impact on services and that no undetected errors had been introduced. To 30 April 2000, $17.27 million was expended on the Y2K program, including funds for rectification works.
<ul style="list-style-type: none"> ◆ $2.8 Million for Mental Health Services 	This additional mental health funding enabled the development of partnerships, prevention, promotion, early intervention and other State-wide programs funded in partnership with the Commonwealth. This is the first year of a five-year funding program.
<ul style="list-style-type: none"> ◆ $850,000 for Aboriginal Health Services 	Funds of over $880,000 were committed to Western Sydney for various programs including: the employment of Aboriginal Education Officers and Aboriginal Hospital Liaison Officers; and grants to non Government organisations including $357,000 to the Daruk Aboriginal Medical Service which, in partnership with the Wentworth Area Health Service, provides obstetrics and psychology services to the local Aboriginal community.
<ul style="list-style-type: none"> ◆ $260,000 for Child and Youth Health Services 	Funding has been provided to 13 Centres throughout Western Sydney for more services and flexibility of care, including improved after hours and outreach services and services appropriate to fathers. This funding is consistent with the Government's Families First initiative.

1999-2000 INITIATIVE	OUTCOME
<ul style="list-style-type: none"> ◆ $130,000 for the NSW Centre for the Advancement of Adolescent Youth 	This centre, located at the New Children's Hospital Westmead, has been funded to improve the health of young people in NSW through best practice, education and training, community research, networks and partnerships.
<ul style="list-style-type: none"> ◆ an estimated $140 million for the Rehabilitation and Extended Care Program 	In 1999-2000, the revised expenditure projected for this program is $160 million. This funding is being applied to improve or maintain the well being and independent functioning of people with disabilities or chronic conditions, the frail aged and the terminally ill.
<ul style="list-style-type: none"> ◆ $260,000 for Suicide Prevention Programs 	$260,000 was allocated for this program in 1999-2000, the first year of a five year funding program. The program focuses on all age groups, especially young people. Its emphasis is on raising awareness, prevention and early intervention.
<ul style="list-style-type: none"> ◆ $7 million for Drug and Alcohol Programs 	Funding of around $7 million has been allocated in Western Sydney to provide a range of drug and alcohol services including: Methadone programs; Inpatient and Day Only Detoxification Units; Drug Intervention Services; Adolescent Residential Detox Unit; and drug and alcohol health promotion and counselling services.
<ul style="list-style-type: none"> ◆ $450,000 capital funding towards a new drug treatment unit to be operated by the Ted Noffs Foundation 	The Western Sydney Area Health Service has provided funding and temporary accommodation for the unit on the Cumberland Hospital site. The Ted Noffs Foundation has been awarded the tender and is yet to identify a permanent location for the unit.
<ul style="list-style-type: none"> ◆ Health Improvement Zones at Auburn and Campbelltown/Claymore (to be funded from a State allocation of up to $2 million) 	In the two year period ending 30 June 2000, $0.6 million has been provided in Western Sydney to pilot innovative service models in community health. These innovative models of service delivery serve to increase access to community health services for those groups experiencing poorer health status.
<ul style="list-style-type: none"> ◆ An additional $500,000 for intensive care services at Westmead Hospital 	Increased use of day surgery, improved discharge planning and post acute care, in conjunction with the ageing of the population and increasing incidence of morbidity, has led to an increase in patient acuity. This funding was allocated to meet increasing demand for critical care services at Westmead Hospital to enhance local service delivery and relieve pressure on specialist retrieval services.
<ul style="list-style-type: none"> ◆ $1.6 million on the expansion of speciality services at Liverpool Hospital 	A range of speciality services, including cardiology, rheumatology, gastroenterology, critical care and diabetic care at Liverpool Hospital, continues to expand to meet the needs of the local and referral population. Patients are able to receive enhanced care, treatment and follow-up care locally, from a multi-disciplinary team.

1999-2000 INITIATIVE	OUTCOME
<ul style="list-style-type: none"> ◆ $900,000 on the continuation of expanded services, including intensive care and drug and alcohol services at Nepean Hospital 	Continuation of these services is assisting in local access to services for residents in this area. Drug and alcohol services have been identified as a service need in the Nepean area.
<ul style="list-style-type: none"> ◆ new ambulance vehicles as part of the $18.3 million upgrade of the State's Ambulance Service fleet The Police Service conducts a Community Drug Education Program in Western Sydney involving 37 drug education officers and 2 Ethnic Community officers.	Forty new ambulance vehicles will be in service by the end of June 2000. After their use for the Olympic Games, the vehicles will replace the ageing Ford F Series ambulances and will be available for general duties throughout Western Sydney. 63 Police Officers and 3 Ethnic Community Liaison Officers in Western Sydney have undertaken the program to provide drug education to community groups including schools. 6 Western Sydney officers attended the Police Service's Management of Alcohol Related Crime training program. The aim of the program is to reduce alcohol related crime and minimise harm by promoting integrated, intelligence driven policing. Harm Minimisation Training has been undertaken with all police officers located at Fairfield and Cabramatta Local Area Commands. Planning is underway with the Western Sydney Area Health Service to develop training related to needle, syringe and methadone programs for St Marys and Penrith Local Area Commands.
Education and Training <ul style="list-style-type: none"> ◆ approximately $1.28 billion in operating costs for primary and secondary schools; ◆ over $24 million on major new school education facilities; ◆ approximately $200 million operating costs for TAFE Institutes; and The Department will continue to implement its Computers in Schools Policy to bring the total value of computers provided to schools in Western Sydney to $37.8 million. A computer technology grant of $2.2 million and a technology grant of $2.1 million will continue to be provided to Western Sydney schools.	In 1999-2000, the Department of Education and Training spent approximately $1.28 billion in operating costs for over 220,000 students in Western Sydney's primary and secondary schools. Over $24 million has been spent in 1999-2000 including new schools at Currans Hill, Wattle Grove and Kellyville and replacement schools at Camden and Quakers Hill. In 1999-2000, $202.6 million was spent on operating costs for TAFE Institutes in Western Sydney. The total value of computers provided to schools in Western Sydney for the implementation of the Computers in Schools program initiative is $38.7 million. Computers that have reached the end of their three year lease period will be replaced from 2000. A Computer Coordinators grant of $5.3 million and a technology grant of $5 million has also been provided to schools in Western Sydney.

1999-2000 INITIATIVE	OUTCOME
An additional $900,000 will be allocated to the Technology in Learning and Teaching Program to provide training to teachers working in Western Sydney.	In 1999-2000, $930,000 was allocated to Western Sydney for the Technology in Learning and Teaching (TILT) program: <ul style="list-style-type: none"> ◆ TILT was implemented in 9 Western Sydney districts in semester 2, 1999; ◆ 975 teachers were trained as part of the Program; ◆ TILT components 7 and 8 were piloted in 3 Western Sydney districts leading to a TAFE level 2 Certificate in Information Technology; ◆ TILT Plus programs piloted in 12 Western Sydney districts included Leaders in School Technology, a technology program for principals; ◆ TILT Hub groups or teacher support network groups are operating in 4 Western Sydney districts; and ◆ Technology training has been provided for one third of teachers aide and one third of Aboriginal Education Assistants.
Over $17 million will be made available for the Back-to-School Allowance payments to families in Western Sydney. $20 million will be provided for literacy programs in schools throughout Western Sydney for 1999 as part of the Literacy Support Program, of which a significant component is the Reading Recovery Program.	Over $17 million in Back to School Allowances was distributed to families in Western Sydney in 1999-2000 to help them in meeting the costs of schooling their children. $20 million was provided for the Literacy Support Program in schools throughout Western Sydney in 1999–2000. The literacy needs of students in the region are identified through the Basic Skills Test in Years 3 and 5 and the English Language and Literacy Assessment (ELLA) test in Years 7 and 8. By using these assessment programs, resources are targeted to students in Western Sydney who most need support for literacy learning. Initiatives and resources in 1999–2000 include: <ul style="list-style-type: none"> ◆ The Early Literacy Initiative continues to operate in 119 schools in Western Sydney. The program targets students of low socio-economic status in the crucial early years (Kindergarten to Year 3) to improve their literacy outcomes; ◆ The ELLA test has been used to identify students in Years 7 and 8 who require additional assistance with their literacy learning. The intervention and support program Literacy Plus is being used to support these students in 44 schools in Western Sydney;

1999-2000 INITIATIVE	OUTCOME
$15.5 million for the new Mt Druitt multi-campus college to provide excellent school education, TAFE and university opportunities $8.2 million will be provided to 155 schools in Western Sydney in 1999/2000 within the Disadvantaged Schools Program. An additional 173 teachers will also be appointed to these schools. The Student Assistance Scheme provides financial support to those students whose families are in greatest need. It is expected that over $1.4 million will be distributed under the scheme to Western Sydney schools in 1999-2000.	<ul style="list-style-type: none"> ◆ All primary schools received support to assist teachers to implement Focus on literacy: spelling, the Department of Education and Training's policy paper on the teaching of spelling. The materials included Teaching spelling K-6, Working with Teaching spelling K-6 (training and development activities for teachers) and Helping your child with spelling from Kindergarten to Year 6; ◆ All districts in Western Sydney had the support of a literacy consultant to work with schools to meet the literacy needs of students; and ◆ $5.6 million has been allocated for the Reading Recovery Program in schools in Western Sydney. Stage 1 of the Mt Druitt multi-campus college was approved in the 1999-2000 Major Capital Works Program (estimated cost $7.3m). Planning work is in an advanced stage. In 1999-2000, $7.6 million was provided to 143 schools in Western Sydney within the Disadvantaged Schools Program (DSP). An additional 159 teachers were appointed to these schools to support 71,549 students. All DSP schools in Western Sydney have reported improvements in literacy outcomes or, in the case of some of the nine schools for specific purposes (SSPs), improvements in communication outcomes. Of the 95 primary schools, including one infants school, 86 per cent have in place comprehensive whole-school co-ordinated student literacy assessment programs and procedures. Improvements in Basic Skills Tests results, particularly between matched students from Year 3 to year 5, were reported by 60 per cent of the schools. Of the 39 high schools, including one senior high school, 60 per cent are teaching and assessing literacy across faculties and Key Learning Areas. Improvements in English Language and Literacy Assessment scores between Year 7 and Year 8 were reported by 82 per cent of the schools, while 31 per cent of schools reported improvements in School Certificate and Higher School Certificate results. Over $1.5 million was distributed to schools in Western Sydney to support students.
$1 million for Youth Assistance Strategies for programs designed to assist disadvantaged	Over $1 million will be expended for Youth Assistance Strategies by the end of the 1999-2000 when it is expected

1999-2000 INITIATIVE	OUTCOME
young people to improve their self esteem and their literacy and numeracy skills, include Helping Early Leaver, Circuit Breaker and Time Out. An additional $130,000 will be allocated for the TAFE Youth at Risk Program in the region. An estimated $240,000 will be provided to schools in Western Sydney to enable year 9 to 12 students to develop individual school to work plans.	that: <ul style="list-style-type: none"> ◆ 160 young people in Western Sydney will have participated in the Circuit Breaker program and all participants will return to further education and training; ◆ 900 young people in Western Sydney will have participated in the Helping Early Leavers program and more than 700 of these will enter or return to further education and training; and ◆ 120 young people in Western Sydney in Years 7 and 8 will have participated in the Time Out Program and more than 100 of these will re-establish regular school attendance. A total of $102,000 was allocated for Western Sydney as follows: <ul style="list-style-type: none"> ◆ $41,000 to Western Sydney Institute of TAFE for the provision of Certificate in General Education at Nepean Inter-Youth Services for Homeless Youth and for the expansion of vocational modules in TAFE/School Programs at Blue Mountains, Baulkham Hills, Blacktown and Richmond; ◆ $47,000 to South Western Sydney Institute of TAFE for programs including The Mac Thing, a joint schools/TAFE initiative run through Outreach in collaboration with relevant community agencies and the local James Meehan High School; and ◆ $14,000 to the Open Training and Education Network to support young people in Western Sydney. It is estimated that expenditure on implementation of the school to work plans in Western Sydney will be $100,000 in 1999-2000 and $140,000 in 2000-2001. <ul style="list-style-type: none"> ◆ 12 schools in Western Sydney piloted school to work planning in 1999 and reported positive student outcomes such as better job seeking skills, improved knowledge of workplace and employer expectations, greater awareness of post school options and local employment opportunities; ◆ 170 students in Years 9 and 10, at risk of leaving school early, were assisted to develop school to work plans; and

1999-2000 INITIATIVE	OUTCOME
The Government will continue air cooling demountable classrooms under the State-wide air cooling program with expenditure of $10 million in 1999-2000. A proportion of this will be allocated to schools in Western Sydney. $340,000 will be spent in Western Sydney on the TAFE NSW Scholarship Scheme to encourage and support further study to all young people who have successfully completed vocational education and training courses as part of their HSC over years 11 and 12. In 1999-2000, funding of $1 million will be available to students in government secondary schools in NSW to undertake study of languages overseas. It is expected that approximately $2.3 million of the Joint Secondary Schools TAFE Program will be distributed to schools in Western Sydney by Local Vocational Education and Training in Schools Committees.	<ul style="list-style-type: none"> ◆ teacher support materials and training and development were provided to support careers advisers and teachers to assist students to develop school to work plans. The air cooling of demountable classrooms has continued State-wide and funding for this program was directed to schools in Western Sydney. The introduction of the TAFE NSW Scholarship Scheme has been deferred. The first scholarships will be offered to students completing their HSC in 2000 and commencing study in 2001. $250,000 was allocated to 229 students from 13 schools in Western Sydney to undertake intensive language study overseas. In 1999–2000, $2.7 million was expended on TAFE-delivered vocational HSC courses, previously Joint Secondary Schools TAFE courses.
Women <ul style="list-style-type: none"> ◆ It is anticipated that in 1999-2000, under the Women's Grants Program, a significant proportion of the funding of some $1 million will again be allocated to key projects for women in Western Sydney. 	The 1999-2000 Women's Grants Program allocated $187,500 to 6 Western Sydney projects out of a total of 24 projects funded. The projects included: <ul style="list-style-type: none"> ◆ The Western Sydney Regional Organisation of Councils for research into childcare services and the labour force participation of women in Western Sydney; ◆ The Violence in the Home Committee at the University of Western Sydney, Macarthur; ◆ Fairfield Community Resource Centre to create a safe physical public space for women as part of the Wetherill Park landscape design improvement program;

1999-2000 INITIATIVE	OUTCOME
Women's Health Services include: continuation of the Breast Screening and Assessment Service - $3.5 million; $0.5 million for the Cervical Screening Program; $1.2 million per annum for the Gynaecology and Oncology Services at Westmead; $0.7 million for counselling services at Liverpool Women's Health Centre and Wilma Women's Health Centre; $2.4 million towards the establishment of the NSW Breast Cancer Institute at Westmead; and $0.3 million for Alternative Birthing and other programs.	<ul style="list-style-type: none"> ◆ The Domestic Violence Advocacy Service in Harris Park to translate an Apprehended Violence Orders booklet into Vietnamese and Arabic; ◆ The Immigrant Women's Speakout Association of NSW to develop a training package in gender and cross-cultural issues; and ◆ The Liverpool Women's Resource Centre to develop a mobile information stall/display for use at community events. In 1999-2000, around $4 million will be expended on breast cancer screening and assessment services for women in Western Sydney. It is estimated that 60,000 screening mammograms will be carried out on women over 40 years of age in Western Sydney in the year. Expenditure of approximately $0.4 million will be incurred in the development and implementation of resources and projects to encourage women in Western Sydney to have Pap smears every two years. This service, which includes a MidLink Menopause Clinic, is an ongoing program to provide high level services to the local and referral population of Western Sydney. These Health Centres continue to provide counselling, naturopathy, medical and health promotion services to women in the Liverpool and Macarthur areas. Women seek help regarding domestic violence, stress, pregnancy, menopause, sexuality and a range of other issues. The project will provide accommodation for the administrative and research components of the Breast Cancer Institute. Planning work is being finalised and construction is anticipated to commence in January 2001. More than $1.4 million will be expended on these programs in 1999-2000. $161,000 was provided to Daruk and Tharawal Aboriginal Medical Services, non-Government organisations located in Wentworth and South Western Sydney Area Health Services, to support birthing options and improve birthing outcomes for Aboriginal women and their babies. $642,500 was provided to Area Health Services to support women's health services and includes Ethnic Obstetric Liaison Officers, Women's Health Co-ordinators and Women's Health Nurses.

1999-2000 INITIATIVE	OUTCOME
Other programs which will assist women in Western Sydney include: <ul style="list-style-type: none"> ◆ the Women's Domestic Violence Court Assistance Program (approximately $600,000); ◆ the Victim Support Program where Community Safety Officers provide follow up support to victims of Domestic Violence and Sexual Assault; ◆ the continued presence of seventeen Domestic Violence Liaison Police Officers to monitor the efficiency of police response and to provide co-ordination and support at the local level; ◆ the Violence Against Women Strategy; and 	Non-Government organisations throughout Western Sydney received $631,000. These include: Fairfield Multicultural Family Planning Association; Immigrant Women's Health Service; Bankstown Women's Health Centre; and Cumberland Women's Health Centre. These organisations offer a range of services such as cancer prevention, counselling, and other interventions to improve the health of women living and working within Western Sydney. This program provides support for victims of domestic violence during the process of applying for an Apprehended Violence Order (AVO). The program aims to fully inform women about the legal process and options. The program operates at Bankstown, Blacktown, Blue Mountains, Campbelltown, Liverpool/Fairfield, Parramatta, Penrith/Mt Drutt, and Windsor. Over $590,000 was provided for the program in Western Sydney in 1999-2000. The Victim Support Policy and Procedures are under review. The Police Service continues to work closely with the Victims of Crime Bureau on projects identified by victims groups. An example is the production of the video "Your Day in Court", which assists victims in understanding the court process. In March 2000 there were 24 Domestic Violence Liaison Police officers located within Western Sydney. They play an integral role in co-ordination and support at the local level. As part of the Violence Against Women Strategy a number of activities have been completed or are in progress in Western Sydney, including: <ul style="list-style-type: none"> ◆ community education project targeting ethnic minority communities such as Violence is Crime pamphlet in Punjabi language in the Wentworth region; ◆ Building Safer Communities projects; ◆ report titled Women's Voices for Safety; ◆ Working Together for a Safer Future regional conference at Penrith;

1999-2000 INITIATIVE	OUTCOME
<ul style="list-style-type: none"> ◆ the Women in Business Mentor Program. 	<ul style="list-style-type: none"> ◆ Education Intervention Training Package on Women and Violence for General Practitioners and production of Violence Against Women - A guide for Medical Practitioners for the Nepean Area; ◆ implementation of a State-wide community education campaign aimed at men 21-29 years; ◆ “Safe Schools, Safe Homes, Safe Neighbourhoods expo”; and ◆ production of a number of information kits and projects targeting older women and women with disabilities. The NSW Police Service plays an active role in the Strategy. $17,500 was spent on two Women in Business Mentor Programs conducted in Parramatta in December 1999 and March 2000. The programs assisted approximately thirty female small business owners to grow their businesses. Both programs were co-ordinated by the Parramatta Business Enterprise Centre. The outcomes from the first workshop show that within six months, 50 per cent of participants increased their turnover and 75 per cent improved their business skills. The Department for Women, in partnership with the Office of Western Sydney and the Department of State and Regional Development, contributed to supporting women in small business in Western Sydney through three workshops on Using the Internet as a Business Tool. Expenditure in 1999-2000 for this initiative was $4,000. A total of 93 women trained in workshops at Parramatta and Liverpool.
Services for children and families $900,000 in capital funds will be provided for the construction of a multi-purpose children’s centre at Hazelbrook. $4.6 million will be allocated to the Families First Strategy in 1999-2000, of which $3.5 million will be for new services to support families living in South West Sydney, the mid North Coast and the far North Coast.	The Blue Mountains City Council has dedicated land for this project. A Development Application for the project is being submitted. $2 million was allocated in 1999-2000 to boost services for families in South Western Sydney. The types of services included: <ul style="list-style-type: none"> ◆ Antenatal Home Visiting Service for Aboriginal Women;

1999-2000 INITIATIVE	OUTCOME
The Department of Juvenile Justice will implement the following programs in Western Sydney in 1999-2000: <ul style="list-style-type: none"> ◆ Specialist counselling and developmental programs as an alternative to detention. ◆ Juvenile Justice Community Services, located at Blacktown Fairfield and Campbelltown, to provide the courts with sentencing alternatives to custody. 	<ul style="list-style-type: none"> ◆ Additional Primary Health Nurses to support families with newborn babies; ◆ Volunteer Home Visiting Services where experienced parents are linked to less experienced parents with young children for practical help and support; ◆ Family Workers who visit families needing additional assistance in caring for their children before a crisis occurs; and ◆ Supported play and home visiting programs for parents. Intensive Programs Units based at Blacktown and Liverpool provide community based services designed to assess and address offending behaviour. Specialist counsellors and Forensic Psychologists staff these units and provide counselling for young offenders convicted of serious violent offending, sexual offences or for young offender's with drug and alcohol issues. It is estimated that by 30 June 2000, the Units will have received approximately 380 requests to assess the suitability of young people to participate in these programs and that in the same period approximately 245 young people will have commenced specialist supervision. Juvenile Justice Officers provide support to young people with welfare problems seeking bail, prepare assessment reports for the courts and facilitate court-directed supervision for offenders placed on good behaviour bonds, probation or parole and community service orders. Support services establish regular contact with young people before they leave custody to prepare them in their transition to the community. This can include finding accommodation, dealing with relationships difficulties, finding employment, developing employment skills or supporting the young person's return to school. It is estimated that by 30 June 2000, Juvenile Justice Community Services located in Western Sydney will have received approximately 1,388 requests to prepare assessment court reports for juvenile offenders and that approximately 598 young people would have commenced post release support, parole and court ordered community service under the supervision of these offices.

1999-2000 INITIATIVE	OUTCOME
<ul style="list-style-type: none"> ◆ Funding will be allocated to employ mentors to provide individual support to non-English speaking background and Aboriginal clients and sessional supervisors to supervise and monitor work placements for clients serving community service orders. ◆ Juvenile Justice Centres - implement court ordered detention for juvenile offenders. Anticipated expenditure is $5 million for Cobham Juvenile Justice Centre, Werrington and $7 million for Reiby Juvenile Justice Centre, Airds. A number of community organisations in Western Sydney are funded by the Department of Juvenile Justice to provide various services and include: <ul style="list-style-type: none"> ◆ Over $1 million for the conduct of Youth Justice Conferences for young offenders from Western Sydney; and ◆ Funding to implement recommendations from the Wood Royal Commission relating to accommodation support for homeless young people who are at risk of drifting into the juvenile justice system. 	To provide additional support for Aboriginal clients and clients from various ethnic backgrounds in Western Sydney, 14 Aboriginal mentors and 22 mentors from non-English speaking backgrounds are employed by the Department. Sessional Supervisors supervise and monitor work placements for clients serving community service orders resulting in the development of placements that have greater community relevance and afford young people completing community service orders the opportunity to provide appropriate restitution to the community. These centres, which have the combined capacity for 144 young people, offer various developmental programs for young people including access to education and training, life skills development, specialist counselling and pre-release support services. It is estimated that there will be a total of around 350 conferences held in 1999-2000. In 1999-2000 the Department funded the Getting it Together Scheme, administered by Marist Community Services and the Penrith Streetwork Project. Both agencies use the funds to secure private rental accommodation or public housing for homeless young people by providing the required bond payment and assisting with the payment of water and electricity accounts.
Funding of the Schools as Community Centres Program will be continued in 1999-2000 with approximately $125,000 to be expended in Western Sydney.	Revised funding for this program in Western Sydney in 1999-2000 was $90,000. Support for families with young children in the local community was provided through projects which included the implementation of a structured playgroup in collaboration with Families First and home visits undertaken by the playgroup facilitator. The Curran Schools as Community Centre continued to operate in Macquarie Fields In recognition of the importance of providing services to young people, in 1999-2000 the Government provided $200,000 for the establishment of 2 new after school youth services at Bankstown and Mount Druitt and $150,000 to expand the Backyard Café service at Penrith. This initiative assists in providing young people with activities after school and is a proactive measure in keeping them off the street.
Funding will be allocated to Western Sydney	Funding of $7,500 is allocated per annum to the Western

1999-2000 INITIATIVE	OUTCOME
for the Early Childhood Intervention Co-ordination Program.	Sydney Area Committee to support the Early Childhood Intervention Co-ordination Program as identified by the Area Action Plan. Outcomes include: <ul style="list-style-type: none"> ◆ professional development activities: services are better able to cater for family needs through promotion of a family-centred approach; ◆ improved access to services for families, including those of non-English speaking background and Aboriginal families; ◆ strengthening links between mainstream early childhood services and specialist disability services; and ◆ identification of gaps and duplication of Early Childhood Intervention services. A Pilot program operated in the Mt Druitt and St Marys districts in 1999-2000. The Program, which supports a case load of 15-18 families, was extended to the Nepean Area.
The implementation of recommended strategies for therapy services for school age children with a disability in the Nepean area.	The Nepean area has commenced the phased implementation of recommendations of a review of therapy services for school age children undertaken in 1997. To help in the implementation of the project, the Ageing and Disability Department has allocated $35,000 for the employment of a project officer for a period of six months. In addition, a further $30,000 has been allocated for set up costs and $70,000 will be made available for service delivery.
The Joint Investigation Teams project between the Police Service and the Department of Community Services, will continue at Penrith, Liverpool and Campbelltown. The project, to improve the investigation of child abuse allegations and to minimise distress to child abuse victims will be allocated over $740,000 in 1999-2000.	The Joint Investigation Teams project trained 29 personnel in 1999-2000. Equipment to allow the taping of children's evidence was purchased for Penrith, Liverpool and Parramatta. The Liverpool Team has continued to service the Liverpool, Campbelltown and Fairfield local government areas and in the period January to December 1999 reported: <ul style="list-style-type: none"> ◆ 431 notifications accepted for investigation; ◆ 16 persons arrested; and ◆ 102 charges laid.

1999-2000 INITIATIVE	OUTCOME
	The Penrith Team services the Blue Mountains, Hawkesbury, Penrith and part of Blacktown local government areas and in the period January to December 1999 reported: <ul style="list-style-type: none"> ◆ 325 notifications accepted for investigation; ◆ 38 persons arrested; and ◆ 98 charges laid The Parramatta Team services the Auburn, Holroyd, Baulkham Hills, Parramatta and part of Blacktown local government areas and in the period January to December 1999 reported: <ul style="list-style-type: none"> ◆ 235 notifications accepted for investigation; ◆ 38 persons arrested; and ◆ 106 charges laid.
Services for older people and people with special needs The Home Care Service of NSW helps frail, aged people and younger people with disabilities and their carers to live independently. It is expected that in 1999-2000, approximately $28 million will be spent providing services to the Western Sydney community.	Home Care expects to deliver in excess of 650,000 hours of service to over 8,500 clients in Western Sydney in 1999-2000.
The Department of Local Government will continue its Subsidies for Pensioner Concessions Program in 1999-2000 with some $12 million as subsidies for shire and municipal rates relief to be provided to Western Sydney councils.	The Department estimates that in 1999-2000, $12 million will be provided as subsidies for pensioners throughout the 14 Western Sydney local government areas.
The Ageing and Disability Department administers community support programs for older people and people with disabilities, their families and carers. State-wide Commonwealth and State expenditure will be $4 million on accommodation, $500,000 on In Home Support, $2.4 million on respite services, $2 million on equipment for disabled persons and $100,000 on support for younger carers.	Allocation of supported accommodation places is being finalised with an expression of interest process to be undertaken to select suitable service providers. Expressions of Interest have also been called from service providers for respite care services. Funding has been allocated to Western Sydney in: <ul style="list-style-type: none"> ◆ Cumberland/Prospect $291,000; South West Sydney $399,000; and Nepean $114,000.

1999-2000 INITIATIVE	OUTCOME
◆ Transport Demonstration Projects.	◆ a General Practitioner/Aged Care Assessment Team Integrated Care project - $50,000 at Western Sydney Area Health Service Transport Demonstration Projects with a combined value of $104,000 were completed in Western Sydney during 1999-2000. The projects were in the Liverpool, Fairfield, Granville and Mt Druitt areas. The outcome of the projects has been that transport services are continuing to be provided to older people and people with disabilities at no on-going cost to Government.
Transport Assistance programs provide funding for concessions such as half-fare concessions for pensioners, transport subsidies provided under the Community Transport Program, Home and Community Care Program and subsidies for half-fare taxi transport for persons unable to utilise public transport because of disabilities. The estimate for pensioner travel in 1999-2000 is $230 million and for the Taxi Transport Subsidy Scheme, $9.877 million. A further $2.327 million will be spent on the NSW Community Transport Program.	Funding for Transport Assistance programs have continued in 1999-2000. Pensioner travel was allocated over $260 million and assistance schemes comprising the Taxi Transport Subsidy Scheme, the Home and Community Care, Community Transport and Area Assistance Scheme, were allocated over $23 million.
Aboriginal people The Housing Aboriginal Communities Program provides rental housing for Aboriginal people in housing stock managed by Aboriginal providers.	In 1999-2000, 11 houses were acquired in Western Sydney under the Program. They are managed by the Deerubbin, Gandangarra and Tharawal Local Aboriginal Land Councils (LALC). Construction commenced on 3 houses for the Tharawal LALC and 2 units were replaced in Blacktown and Penrith. The three LALCs participated in the piloting of Housing Our Mob Everywhere (HOME) Pilot, a training package for the Aboriginal Housing sector developed to assist Aboriginal housing organisations in achieving the National Community Housing Accreditation Standards and for individuals who work in or are on the Board of Housing Organisations to achieve the National Competency Standards. A crisis accommodation program for Aboriginal people, jointly sponsored by the Aboriginal Housing Office and the Office of Community Housing, was piloted in Campbelltown.

1999-2000 INITIATIVE	OUTCOME
The Aboriginal Housing Office provides funding for the Department of Housing to acquire and manage housing under the Housing for Aboriginals Program. The Department of Housing manages some 715 dwellings occupied by Aboriginal people in Western Sydney under the Program and a 3-4 year repairs, maintenance and upgrading program for these properties commenced in 1998-99 and is estimated to cost $7.07 million. The Department of Fair Trading has established an Aboriginal Strategy to meet the needs of Aboriginal consumers in Western Sydney. Approximately $112,000 has been allocated in 1999-2000. The Government has established an Aboriginal and Torres Strait Islander Workplace Services Unit within the Department of Industrial Relation's Parramatta Contact Centre, to assist Aboriginal people and Torres Strait Islanders to understand their rights and responsibilities as employees, managers and employers. The Unit also provides information on employment issues such as occupational health and safety, workers' compensation and superannuation matters.	The Aboriginal Housing Office is undertaking a major program to renovate and upgrade its properties across the State. This is a 4 to 5 year program which commenced in 1998-99. Up to 1999-2000, a total of 198 houses in Western Sydney were or are in the process of being upgraded. The operating budget for the Strategy in 1999-2000 was more than $153,000. To meet the needs of Aboriginal customers in Western Sydney the Department has employed 2 Aboriginal Customer Service Officers. A particular focus of these officers is on tenancy issues, an area that was identified in research conducted by the Department as a major concern of Aboriginal people. A specialist telephone hot-line for Aboriginal people, the Aboriginal and Torres Strait Islander Employment Advisory Service, has been set up to give advice on NSW's employment laws. Callers to the Service from throughout the State pay only the cost of a local telephone call. An average of about twenty callers per month seek assistance. This number is expected to rise as the new service becomes better known. This telephone hot-line is an important step in ensuring that the Advisory Service is easily and equitably available to all Aboriginal people and Torres Strait Islanders.
The Police Service oversees a number of initiatives concerned with Aboriginal communities in Western Sydney such as: <ul style="list-style-type: none"> ◆ the Aboriginal Community Liaison Officers (ACLO) Scheme; ◆ Interagency Committees; ◆ Work Experience by Aboriginal students; 	The NSW Police Service has 3 ACLOs servicing Campbelltown, Liverpool, Macquarie Fields, Green Valley, Camden, Mt Druitt and Blacktown Local Area Commands. ACLOs from Mt Druitt and Campbelltown participate in committees and provide and disseminate information on issues relating to policing in Aboriginal communities. An Aboriginal student is attending Mt Druitt Local Area Command one day per week for twelve months performing clerical duties.

1999-2000 INITIATIVE	OUTCOME
<ul style="list-style-type: none"> ◆ Blue Light Discos; and ◆ Police Aboriginal Support Group 	Discos are held each month by the Police and Community Youth Clubs at Blacktown, Mt Druitt, Liverpool and Campbelltown. Aboriginal young people are encouraged to attend. The program has been successful in improving relationships between Police and the Aboriginal community within Western Sydney. Membership of local Aboriginal volunteers in the Group has increased from 66 to 80 in 1999-2000. As a consequence groups have been established in areas across NSW with large Aboriginal populations.
Housing In addition to the capital housing allocation in excess of $77 million in 1999-2000, $39.4 million has been allocated to the Department of Housing for repairs and maintenance to its housing stock in Western Sydney. State-wide, $205,000 has been allocated for Housing Assistance Planning for 1999-2000, some of which will be spent in Western Sydney The Department each year allocates proportions of its Capital Works budget for Western Sydney and utilising existing mainstream stock, for supported housing. The 1999-2000 supported housing allocation for the region is $1.23 million.	The 1999-2000, more than $34 million was spent on maintenance and repairs to public housing homes in Western Sydney, as the Department of Housing continues to focus on maintaining assets at an appropriate standard. In 1999-2000, the Department of Housing funded regular joint Regional Planning Forums in Western Sydney and South Western Sydney. The Department supported Neighbourhood Advisory Boards (partnerships between the Department, tenants, and other stakeholders) which met regularly to co-ordinate service delivery and plan projects. Almost 200 units of new and existing supported accommodation was provided in Western Sydney during 1999-2000. A percentage of new public and community housing has been identified for households with additional support needs including people with disabilities, people with a mental illness and older people. In addition, existing public housing properties are also used to provide supported accommodation.
Sport and Recreation $100,000 has been allocated in 1999-2000 to the two Sports Academies - Western Sydney Academy of Sport and the South West Sydney Academy of Sport. $50,000 will be provided in 1999-2000 to the Western Sydney Sports Foundation.	The two regional Academies each received a Government grant of $100,000. Overall 325 athletes and 57 coaches were supported. The Sports Foundation was allocated $50,000 in 1999-2000 to assist talented young athletes in Western Sydney to pursue their potential in sport. 20 scholarships were awarded and a further 10 are pending.

1999-2000 INITIATIVE	OUTCOME
$350,000 will be made available to the NSW Institute of Sport. Programs and services of the Department of Sport and Recreation in Western Sydney include expenditure of approximately $320,000 for 1999-2000 for Swimsafe learn to swim lessons; Holiday Sport programs for children; Introductory Opportunities to a sport or recreation activity; Volunteer Involvement Program to help organisations gain, train and retain volunteers; Aquafitness physical activity in the water; Fitness Leaders and Austswim Accreditation education and training of fitness and swimming instructors; and Sport Development to assist coaches, officials, players and parents in many aspects of sport. The Department of Sport and Recreation has provided $2 million towards each of the Blacktown and Bankstown regional athletic tracks. The State-wide Youth In Sport Program with Police-Citizens Youth Clubs (PCYC) will continue to be funded to the extent of $300,000 in 1999-2000. Public Safety Following the successful trial of streamlined operations at Fairfield Local Court, the Court Plan is to be expanded at Liverpool and Blacktown courts so as to relieve police from routine court duties and return them to frontline duties.	$350,000 was provided to the NSW Institute of Sport in 1999-2000 for equipment purchases. The number of Institute athletes represented on national sports teams has more than doubled to 433 in the past three years. Total State funding for the Institute in 1999-2000 was $4.5 million. The Department will have delivered these programs and services worth approximately $320,000 by the end of 1999-2000. Participation in these programs was: <ul style="list-style-type: none"> ◆ 780 Swimsafe programs - 7,000 participants; ◆ 68 Vacation Sports programs - 330 participants; ◆ 23 Introductory Opportunities programs - 1,300 participants; ◆ Coach Education program - 400 participants; ◆ Leadership programs - 560 participants; ◆ 28 Aquafitness programs - 460 participants; ◆ 16 Fitness Leaders and Austswim Accreditation programs - 200 participants; and ◆ 5 Sports Development programs - 120 participants. The Department has provided $2 million each to the Blacktown and Bankstown athletic tracks. The Bankstown athletics track is now in operation. The Department of Sport and Recreation provides funds to Western Sydney Police and Community Youth Clubs at Parramatta, Bidwill, Fairfield/Cabramatta and Mt. Druitt. $40,000 was provided in 1999-2000 for Youth at Risk programs involving over 1,000 club participants. This initiative is being implemented State-wide, including in local courts in Western Sydney. The Government is committed to the release of police time through transfer of responsibility for prisoner escorts from the Police Service to the Department of Corrective Services. By early 2001, the following number of police will have been released: Bankstown 9.6, Campbelltown 7.7, Penrith 8.3 and Blacktown 10.1. In addition, police have increased efficiency by improving processes at Fairfield Court. Improvements such as the electronic transfer of court documents have decreased the amount of police time spend at the court.

1999-2000 INITIATIVE	OUTCOME
<ul style="list-style-type: none"> ◆ the employment of Community Safety Police Officers and Youth Liaison Police Officers in all Local Area Commands (LAC); ◆ Crime Prevention Workshops in local schools and a new resource video and manual at an estimated cost of $75,000 for State-wide use; ◆ the provision of nameplates to officers receiving funding under the Community Language Allowance Scheme to identify the language they speak. 	Each LAC in Western Sydney has a Community Safety Officer and Youth Liaison Officer appointed. These officers engage in local crime prevention projects and community education campaigns based on the six major categories in the NSW Police Service Corporate Plan - assault, malicious damage, break and enter, motor vehicle theft, robbery, and stealing. The Police Service and Department of Education and Training (DET) have developed new resources for use in schools. The Crime Prevention Workshops Kit is a curriculum and video which covers 12 modules related to juvenile crime prevention. The modules will be jointly presented by police and DET staff and will form the basis of all police school programs. The kit is being launched in 2000 and will be made available to all schools in Western Sydney. Police officers can obtain name plates which identify the second language they speak and the Police Service has notified officers of this initiative.
Corrective Services A total of approximately $108.5 million has been allocated for recurrent expenditure in Western Sydney in 1999-2000 for the containment and care of inmates, for the Probation and Parole Service and for Attendance Centres.	The actual allocation in 1999-2000 was $124 million.
Supporting Cultural Diversity Over $80 million will be spent State-wide by the Department of Education and Training under the Non-English Speaking Background (NESB) Program in 1999-2000. A major proportion of this program will be implemented in Western Sydney.	In 1999-2000, students and their families in Western Sydney benefited from: <ul style="list-style-type: none"> ◆ 445 full-time equivalent English as a Second Language (ESL) teacher positions in 288 schools to support 37,266 students with ESL and English literacy development; ◆ 8 Intensive English Centres; ◆ 539 students in 7 schools and 8 Intensive English Centres received the Certificate of Spoken and Written English; 10 new ESL programs established; ◆ 10 new ESL programs established;

1999-2000 INITIATIVE	OUTCOME
Funding of over $3.3 million will be provided for the Multicultural Education Plan 1998-2001. A major proportion of this program will be implemented in Western Sydney. Over $1 million will be provided in 1999-2000 to fund additional community language full-time teaching positions in schools across the State. 37 of these positions will be at schools in Western Sydney.	<ul style="list-style-type: none"> ◆ 89 schools without an ESL allocation were provided with a temporary allocation to support newly arrived NESB students; and ◆ 107 new ESL teachers trained. In 1999, students and their families in Western Sydney benefited from: <ul style="list-style-type: none"> ◆ 106 full-time equivalent Community Language positions in 60 primary schools; ◆ 7 centres of the Saturday School of Community Languages; ◆ 11 Community Information Officers (NESB) to strengthen links between schools and their culturally diverse school community members; ◆ 10 Multicultural/ESL Education consultants; ◆ 230 relief days to support training in anti-racism and understanding refugee students; ◆ funding to support school-based multicultural targeted projects, specifically: anti-racism projects in 10 schools; multicultural curriculum development projects in 5 schools; and NESB Parent Participation projects in 29 schools.
The Business Migration initiative will continue in 1999-2000 with an allocation from the Department of State and Regional Development of approximately $200,000.	$50,000 was allocated State-wide in 1999-2000 to the Business Migration Information and Referral Service to provide information and services to migrants interested in setting up or expanding their businesses.
The Police Service will continue its Ethnic Community Liaison Officers Program, aimed to enhance the relationship between the Police Service and ethnic communities. $294,000 will be allocated for this initiative in 1999-2000.	The NSW Police Service currently has 11 Ethnic Community Liaison Officer positions and 7 of these are located within Western Sydney. The Program is under review with the aim of further expansion.
The Police and Community Training Program is to be extended for a twelve month period with a further $142,000 in funds committed for Cabramatta, Bankstown and Fairfield.	The program has been extended to December 2000. $132,000 was committed for Cabramatta, Bankstown and Fairfield projects and further crime prevention initiatives under the program are under consideration. Research is being undertaken to determine projects at the Penrith and St Marys Local Area Commands under the program. Each project ensures a whole-of-government approach.

1999-2000 INITIATIVE	OUTCOME
The Ethnic Affairs Commission will provide funding under its Community Development Grants Program .	Under the 1999-2000 Community Development Grants Program, the Commission paid $178,575 to organisations in Western Sydney.
Arts The Ministry for the Arts, under its Cultural Grants Program, will allocate approximately $1.67 million in 1999-2000 for grants to organisations based in Western Sydney.	It is anticipated that this target will be met. Final figures for the 1999-2000 year will be known in July 2000 after components of the Cultural Grants Program have been completed and allocated for the year.
The Government will establish a Western Sydney Local Government Arts Incentive Fund to provide matching support on a dollar-for-dollar basis for arts projects.	The Government is providing funds from 2000-2001 to implement A Strategy for the Arts in Western Sydney over the next two to five years. The Western Sydney and Community Cultural Development Program Manager, Ministry for the Arts, is developing a timetable and guidelines for establishment of the fund in consultation with Western Sydney stakeholders.
Under the Capital Assistance Program , priority will be given to projects in Western Sydney.	Ministry for the Arts Cultural Grants Program capital assistance has been re-focussed to establish a Capital Infrastructure Program with components to provide priority to Western Sydney. Guidelines were released in February 2000 seeking applications for projects to commence in 2001. The number of projects and the amounts to be provided each year are dependent upon applications received and their assessment in meeting the guidelines.
Community Development The Government will continue to provide funds to community organisations in Western Sydney under the Area Assistance Scheme for family and community development services. For 1999-2000 grants under the scheme (including Western Sydney Area Assistance Scheme and the Macarthur Area Assistance Scheme), funding will be maintained at a comparable level to previous years.	The 1999-2000 grants funding level for Western Sydney is $4.7 million. New projects recommended for funding were: Western Sydney: 39 projects valued at $1.3 million Macarthur: 11 projects valued at $0.24 million. This is in addition to approximately $3.2 million in commitments to projects continuing from previous funding rounds into 1999-2000.
PROTECTING THE ENVIRONMENT In 1999-2000 the Environment Protection Authority will spend some $19.1 million of its operating budget in Western Sydney.	Actual expenditure over this period was $20.8 million.
Clean Air and Clean Waterways In 1999-2000, some $1 million will be	$1 million has been spent operating 10 air quality monitoring

1999-2000 INITIATIVE	OUTCOME
expended on the Air Quality Monitoring Program in Western Sydney. The Sustainable Energy Development Authority's Energy Smart Homes Program provides local councils with a model energy efficient building policy that provides lifetime savings in energy bills and reduces greenhouse gases. It is estimated that approximately $0.5 million will be spent in Western Sydney on residential energy efficiency programs. The Energy Smart Business Program will continue in 1999-2000 with around 30 business partners with operations in Western Sydney. Major facilities involved in the Energy Smart Government Program in Western Sydney include the South Western Sydney Area Health Service, the New Children's Hospital, Westmead and the Parklea Correctional Centre. The Government will implement the Sydney Catchment Authority work program to put in place practices and monitoring to ensure clean drinking water for all of Sydney. Up to 100 Sydney Water positions will be transferred to the Authority's office in Penrith. Funding will be continued for the Hawkesbury Nepean Catchment Management Trust with $3.6 million being allocated in 1999-2000.	stations in Western Sydney to provide information to the community and policy makers. A number of Western Sydney councils have almost fully implemented the Energy Smart Homes policy. This policy ensure that all new homes reach at least a 3.5 star energy rating making them more comfortable to live in and cheaper to run. Under the Community Housing Energy Project, over 700 Department of Housing and community housing homes have been upgraded in Western Sydney over the past 12 months. This reduces energy bills for those that can least afford the high cost of running a home. The Sustainable Energy Development Authority has spent over $150,000 on the project. There are around 30 Western Sydney businesses participating in the Energy Smart Business program. Collectively, they are saving around $1 million per annum through projects initiated through this program as well as reducing greenhouse gas emissions by around 17,000 tonnes each year. New energy performance contracts have been let for the Parramatta Linen Service and for the Attorney General's Department facilities at Liverpool, Campbelltown and Parramatta. These contracts will upgrade lighting and air conditioning systems to ensure optimum efficiency and performance while reducing greenhouse gas emissions. As these projects are guaranteed to pay for themselves over an agreed time period, they do not impact on the capital works budgets of the agencies. The $9 million upgrade to the Upper Canal, which transports water from the southern metropolitan dams to the Prospect Water Treatment Plant, has commenced. The Authority is also funding work to reduce river bank subsidence, improve soil erosion control and control pests and weeds. Preparation of the Sydney and Regional Centres Drinking Water Catchments REP is underway. The Authority commenced operation at Penrith in 1999. Approximately 80 people are now located at the Penrith office and another 47 staff are located at Warragamba. The Department of Land and Water Conservation allocated this funding to the Trust in 1999-2000 to meet operating costs.
The Government's Water Reform Commitments in the Hawkesbury-Nepean system will involve the allocation of approximately $150,000 in 1999-2000 to the Recreational Water Quality Monitoring	In 1999-2000, $50,000 was expended on the Hawkesbury-Nepean Water Extraction Monitoring Trial, to investigate water extraction monitoring technologies, raise landholder awareness of metering needs and investigate water usage patterns in various agricultural/industrial activities. The

1999-2000 INITIATIVE	OUTCOME
Project.	trial has been a crucial element of determining draft annual water licence volumetric conversion rates and the development of a statewide metering strategy. A further $50,000 was spent on the Hawkesbury-Nepean Integrated Water Monitoring Framework in 1999-2000 to integrate all water monitoring activities and information across all agencies, organisations and the community, into one management system. Other projects undertaken in 1999-2000, as part of the Water Reform Agenda for the Hawkesbury-Nepean system, include: <ul style="list-style-type: none"> ◆ The Blue Mountains/Richmond Groundwater Management Plan ($90,000); ◆ The Hawkesbury-Nepean Farm Dams Impact Studies ($100,000); ◆ The Hawkesbury-Nepean Low Flow Indicator Gauging Station Network, developed as part of the volumetric conversion program ($200,000); ◆ The Hawkesbury-Nepean Daily Flow Model ($150,000); ◆ Hawkesbury-Nepean Geomorphological Benchmarking of the catchment ($70,000); ◆ Hawkesbury-Nepean Biological Indicator Analysis A review and analysis of existing information, based on a Pressure-Biota-Habitat approach was commenced. The aim is to develop an understanding of ecosystem stress and river health issues for each of the stressed river sub-catchments. This work is an expansion of the stressed rivers assessments and is a crucial tool for water management planning ($40,000); ◆ Assessment of Water Quality ($30,000); ◆ Recreational Water Quality Monitoring Program. The program, which involves analytical monitoring, publication of results and liaison with catchment stakeholders, was implemented ($160,000);

1999-2000 INITIATIVE	OUTCOME
$150,000 will be expended in 1999-2000 on a water reform communications strategy aimed to ensure that water licensing reforms and effective river flow, groundwater and water quality planning for the Hawkesbury-Nepean system are implemented. $1.5 million will be allocated in 1999-2000 on the new Georges River Foreshore Improvement Program to stabilise the ecological integrity of the Georges River Catchment. In addition, the Georges River Regional Environment Plan will be implemented. Grants totalling $5.5 million will be allocated by the EPA for the Stormwater Trust for stormwater remediation and associated projects in Western Sydney. The Blue Mountains Urban Run-off Control Program will continue as a joint project by the Department of Local Government and the Roads and Traffic Authority with expenditure in 1999-2000 of $4.2 million.	<ul style="list-style-type: none"> ◆ Volumetric Conversion/Farm Dams Policy consultation. Extensive consultation to address landholder concerns and questions was undertaken. Over 1,000 landholders attended meetings in the catchment ($20,000); ◆ Ongoing liaison is being undertaken with water user associations, the Hawkesbury-Nepean Catchment Management Trust, local councils, state agencies and the public, on water reforms ($50,000); ◆ South Creek Water Quality. An in-situ water quality probe to investigate impacts of water quality in South Creek on agriculture was installed, in response to community concerns ($20,000); and ◆ Blue-green Algae Management. The Algal Contingency Plan was developed by the State Algal Coordinating Committee with clear assignment of responsibilities given to agencies such as NSW Health and the Sydney Catchment Authority ($50,000). The first phase of the Communication Strategy was implemented. It is designed to communicate water reform messages to landholders who have reading difficulties and to those from a non-English speaking background, many of whom are unauthorised water users and have never received or understood previous amnesty/water reform messages. $150,000 was expended on the strategy in 1999-2000. $1.5 million was allocated to the program. An outcome of the Georges River Regional Environment Plan will be the systematic identification and mapping of areas of significant conservation value. This information will be used to inform regional land use planning decisions. The Environment Protection Authority allocated grants totalling $5.9 million for the Stormwater Trust for stormwater remediation and associated projects in Western Sydney in 1999-2000. The continuation of the Urban Run-off Control Program will enhance the prospects of a successful Greater Blue Mountains World Heritage nomination by demonstrating a continuing government commitment to improving water quality in the nominated area. The Environment Protection Authority is now responsible for this initiative.

1999-2000 INITIATIVE	OUTCOME
The Department of Transport contributes funding for the study of Parramatta River bank erosion caused by river traffic such as ferries and private craft. Approximately $100,000 will be expended in 1999-2000. The Department of Land and Water Conservation will spend $200,000 on a sewage pump out facility for boats at Windsor.	During 1999-2000 the Waterways Authority continued a study to provide time series data on sandy beaches, mangrove banks, boat traffic and boat wakes to assist with the development of effective solutions. Final design and construction of the facility has been delayed as a result of heritage and historic site considerations.
Parks, Gardens, Reserves and Forests The Government will commit an estimated $9 million in 1999-2000, to Regional Parks, National Parks and Nature Reserves for the people of Western Sydney. <ul style="list-style-type: none"> ◆ Western Sydney Regional Park, Horsley Park, $2.9 million. ◆ Parramatta Park, $1.4 million. ◆ Rouse Hill Regional Park, $1.23 million. ◆ Leacock Regional Park, Casula, $260,000. ◆ William Howe Regional Park, Narellan Vale, $470,000. 	The Masterplan and Plan of Management for the Park have been completed. New entrance gates and a car park for 40 vehicles have been constructed. Additional walking tracks and cycle paths are being built and improvements to existing picnic facilities at Sugarloaf Ridge, additional planting, paving, signage, toilets and lookout facilities are being undertaken. Management and on-going works costing $1.1 million are being undertaken on road and landscape improvements within the Park, including the construction of barbecues and picnic shelters. Extensive work has also been undertaken on the regeneration of the creek and ridgeline through the park. A Plan of Management for the park has been completed. Landscape and improved visitor facilities have included installation of play equipment, barbecue and picnic facilities and walking tracks along Second Ponds Creek. Construction of additional picnic shelters, barbecues, walking tracks, paths and a lookout has been completed, at a cost of $400,000. Bush regeneration and additional planting is in progress. Tenders to construct a cycle path have been invited. The Plan of Management for the park has been completed and bush regeneration, planting, weed control and fencing, costing $50,000, is in progress.

1999-2000 INITIATIVE	OUTCOME
◆ Improvements and maintenance will also be undertaken at Bents Basin State Recreation Area, Greendale, $95,000; Lower Prospect Canal, $1.5 million; Scheyville National Park, $320,000; Castlereagh Nature Reserve, $125,000; Mulgoa and Kemps Creek Nature Reserves, $410,000 and $135,000, respectively; Burratorang State Recreation Area, $10,000; Nattai National Park, $10,000; Thirlmere Lakes National Park, $10,000; and Dharawal Nature Reserve, $100,000. In Western Sydney, the Government will spend $35 million in 1999-2000 under the Sydney Region Development Fund, Negotiations by the Department of Urban Affairs and Planning are continuing for the purchase of property, including 305 hectares of land at Doonside for the Eastern Creek Open Space Corridor. The Department estimates that the Metropolitan Greenspace Program and the Greening Western Sydney Program should receive funding in the order of $500,000 and $675,000, respectively, in 1999-2000. 53.5 hectares of land at Narellan Vale, valued at an estimated $1.3 million, will be dedicated by Landcom as a bushland corridor in 1999-2000. Bicentennial Park has been allocated $3.1 million in recurrent funding and $7.45 million in capital funding.	Improvement works to Scheyville National Park, Pitt Town Nature Reserve; Nattai National Park; Thirlmere Lakes National Park and Burratorang State Recreation Area have been undertaken. These include the upgrading of various utilities, ground areas, buildings and access routes; pest and fire management activities; improved neighbour relations; and preparation and exhibition of draft plans of management. Total funding under the Sydney Region Development Fund in 1999-2000, for property purchases and grants, was $33.5 million. It is anticipated that the purchase of a 307 hectare property at Doonside for the Eastern Creek Open Space Corridor will be finalised by 30 June, 2000. A joint study by the Department of Urban Affairs and Planning (DUAP) and the National Parks and Wildlife Service has identified 35 parcels of land purchased by DUAP as potential additions to national parks in the Sydney region. Contracts have been exchanged for land in the Eastern Creek Open Space Corridor and settlement is expected in the near future. The Cumberland Plain Recovery Plan, expected to be completed in late 2000, will identify objectives and actions for the management of open space. The National Parks and Wildlife Service and DUAP are considering the value of open space corridors for the protection of endangered ecological communities. In 1999-2000, $451,000 was expended on the Metropolitan Greenspace Program and $735,500 on the Greening Western Sydney Program. The significant dedication will provide a bush corridor to link William Howe Regional Park and Mount Annan Botanic Gardens to the Nepean River. As the land is within a residential urban release area, its value is estimated at around $13 million. The Minister for Urban Affairs and Planning officially handed over the land on 18 May 2000. In 1999 the Park Trust provided recreation and leisure services to over 600,000 visitors as well as environmental education and eco-tourism services for 25,000 school children, 7,000 children under five and 16,000 tourists. From the Trust's market research, 39 per cent of visitors to the Park are from a non-English speaking background.

1999-2000 INITIATIVE	OUTCOME
Mt Annan Botanic Gardens has been allocated $410,000 in 1999-2000 for infrastructure maintenance projects and a further $135,000 to fund better visitor facilities. The Government has allocated $353,000 in 1999-2000 to both upgrade and provide new visitor services at Mt Tomah Botanical Gardens. State Forests of NSW will spend $607,000 on capital and operating expenditure within the Cumberland State Forest at West Pennant Hills. Also located at West Pennant Hills are the Forest Research and Development Division and the Cumberland Nursery, which have an annual operating budget of approximately $11.08 million.	The Trust has entered into various partnerships with research institutions including the University of Western Sydney to improve scientific research supporting the Trust's nature conservation programs. Research information is available to environmental groups, students and the community. The Trust reviewed its Homebush Bay Wetlands Management Plan in 1999 and completed a Stormwater Management Plan and Environmental Management System for the Park. These guide the management of waste, stormwater and environmental issues to help improve, among other things, the water quality of Homebush Bay and the Parramatta River. The Trust has built a considerable library of information about the wetlands of Homebush Bay, the history of land use, cultural heritage and the development of Homebush Bay and surrounding lands. The information is freely available to the public through the Park's Visitor and Environment Centre. Over 160,000 people visit the Park's Visitor Centre each year. The funds have been expended to provide access for people with disabilities, additional toilet facilities, BBQs, roads, paths and irrigation. The funds have been expended on an effluent reuse project, enhancement to retail facilities, communications and Aboriginal site interpretation. Statistics relating to the Forest include: <ul style="list-style-type: none"> ◆ 120,000 visitors to Cumberland State Forest each year. ◆ 85 visits by school groups in 1999, involving over 4,200 students. ◆ Community Education program delivered to 35 groups. School vacation education programs provided. ◆ Library and information services are available to the community.

1999-2000 INITIATIVE	OUTCOME
Heritage The Heritage Office is involved with funding of significant heritage projects in Western Sydney in 1999-2000. <ul style="list-style-type: none"> ◆ A $450,000 grant to the University of Western Sydney will enable conservation work to be undertaken at the former female orphanage at Rydalmere. ◆ A $200,000 grant will be made to the Parramatta City Council towards landscape works in the Harris Park heritage precinct. ◆ Hawkesbury City Council will receive a $100,000 grant to assist conservation work to the former Windsor Hospital. 	Conservation work on this project is in the planning stage. The NSW Heritage Office is a member of a Steering Committee overseeing the project. Tender specifications are being finalised and landscaping is expected to proceed in mid-2000. Conservation work on this project is in the planning stage.
Waste Management In 1999-2000, it is anticipated that a total of $2.3 million will be allocated to the Western Sydney Waste Board and the Macarthur Waste Board to enable the ongoing implementation of the Boards' waste reduction plans. The Waste Planning and Management Fund, administered by the Environment Protection Authority, will also provide grants of around $2 million to promote community waste reduction programs in the region.	In 1999-2000 the Western Sydney Waste Board and the Macarthur Waste Board were allocated $2.3 million from the Waste Planning and Management Fund to assist with boards' operations and the implementation of regional waste plans for 2000-2001 to 2002-2003. Overall Waste Board recurrent funding has risen by 13 per cent and program funding by 40 per cent for 2000-2001. Achievements during the year included research and conceptual designs for innovative waste management facilities (Drive Through Recycling Centres) and processes (pre-treatment). In addition to the improved environmental outcomes that stem from these initiatives, they have the potential to generate significant employment opportunities in Western Sydney.

1999-2000 INITIATIVE	OUTCOME
Waste Service NSW is a major supplier of waste management services with significant waste management facilities operating in Western Sydney. In 1999-2000, capital expenditure totalling $3.8 million will be allocated to: Chullora Recycling Park, Bankstown ($1.1 million); Eastern Creek Waste Management Centre ($1.7 million); Jacks Gully Waste Management Centre, Camden East ($0.8 million); Grange Avenue, Marsden Park Facility ($0.1 million); and Seven Hills Waste Management Centre ($0.1 million).	Other initiatives include: community acceptance of the Earthworks Program (home composting and worm farms) and roll out of the “Waste Not Development Control Plan” by constituent councils (waste management planning for new developments); various agreements on the provision of regional waste service arrangements which improve the quality and efficiency of services available to residents and businesses within the region; and various initiatives involving businesses and industry to improve waste management practices (eg, waste audits and management plans, provision of new waste services, cleaner production etc). In addition, two community waste reduction grants totalling more than $80,000 were approved to businesses within the region for recycling and re-use initiatives. The Regional Illegal Dumping Squad initiative is one of a number of significant measures to address this problem in Western Sydney. The Environment Protection Authority contributed $60,000 to a joint venture with four Councils and the Western Sydney Waste Board to establish the squad to patrol Western Sydney and trial a range of investigation strategies. In a six month period the squad investigated 141 complaints of illegal dumping, issued 57 infringement notices, handed out 23 clean-up directions, referred 5 matters to council for prosecution and had a further 28 matters under investigation. A range of investigation techniques are being systematically trialled in known dumping areas in Liverpool, Blacktown, Penrith and Fairfield. Total expenditure in Western Sydney in 1999-2000 is estimated at $37.24 million. This is comprised of: <ul style="list-style-type: none"> ◆ Private sector operating contract for operation of Waste Management Centres; ◆ Waste Service's operating costs of these Centres; and ◆ Capital expenditure.
The Department of Transport is undertaking a project for the remediation of contaminated areas of Homebush Bay, caused by industrial waste, at a total cost of $21 million. Almost $1 million has been spent on preliminary work and a further $1 million will be expended in 1999-2000.	The Waterways Authority is now responsible for remediation of contaminated areas of Homebush Bay. During 1999-2000, preliminary work on detailed proposals, community consultation and the Environmental Impact Statement process, was undertaken.

1999-2000 INITIATIVE	OUTCOME
BETTER GOVERNMENT SERVICES Premier's Department The Department has several major 'place'-focussed and coordination initiatives in Western Sydney. The total budget allocation in 1999-2000 for these regional initiatives is $600,000. ◆ The Cabramatta Project aims to improve the delivery of government services to Cabramatta.	A number of important initiatives have been put in place to improve drug treatment and to address community concerns regarding drug dealing and use. These include: <ul style="list-style-type: none"> ◆ a purpose built 20 bed detoxification unit constructed at Fairfield Hospital at a cost of $3.3 million; ◆ a multipurpose drug and alcohol centre; ◆ a $40,000 police van anti-drug command post set up by the Police Service; ◆ an operational policing strategy; ◆ a drug education program and specialist training in dealing with students with drug problems attended by 16 school counsellors from 27 local schools; ◆ a telephone hotline to allow residents to identify areas being used as dumping grounds for used needles and syringes; and ◆ a Specialist Adolescent Drug Rehabilitation Centre is being established. Three projects to address youth unemployment have been funded through a $200,000 Area Assistance Scheme grant. Planet Retail involves a unique partnership between the Cabramatta Project and the Australian Retailers Association. A further program in partnership with Sodexo-Stadium Australia and South Western Sydney Institute of TAFE has provided training in tourism/hospitality and employment opportunities at Stadium Australia for 25 young people from Cabramatta.

1999-2000 INITIATIVE	OUTCOME
◆ The Regional Co-ordination Program - management of strategic projects that have the potential to bring significant benefits to the people, the economy, infrastructure or the environment of the region. ◆ In response to a number of high profile crime and safety incidents in the Canterbury-Bankstown area the Premier's Department was asked to consult in more detail with the community and agencies on issues concerning young people and families. An action plan is being implemented.	Tourism development initiatives include: a Food Trail Guide to market Cabramatta to potential visitors creating a more positive image; the appointment by Council of a dedicated Tourism Officer, funded by the NSW Government; and funding through the Tourism NSW's Sydney Tourism Experience Development Program for publicity purposes. Regional Coordinators were established in the Western Sydney and South Western Sydney Regions in 1998 and 1999, respectively. The Regional Co-ordinator Western Sydney has co-ordinated the work of key government agencies on strategic planning, declaration of lands as a release area and provision of major regional transport infrastructure for the redevelopment of Boral's 300 hectare quarrying operation at Greystanes. When fully developed, the site will provide jobs for 4,000 to 6,000 people. In addition, the co-ordinator has facilitated the first stage of the SungeiWay (Wonderland) 154 hectares Business Park at Eastern Creek. The area will generate up to 1,000 jobs in the next two years and up to 5,000 jobs when fully completed. The co-ordinator has also been involved with the pilot innovative Drug Court established at Parramatta in 1999; the Prospect Canal Linear Park; the research project on Social Exclusion under an ARC-SPIRT (Strategic Partnership with Industry – Research and Training Scheme) grant; the establishment of a pilot travel information/training project which links job seekers in Western Sydney with 'job rich' areas outside Western Sydney; a workshop to showcase "best practice" of government and local government agencies working with non-English speaking background communities in Western Sydney on solutions to environmental issues; the planning for the redevelopment of surplus government sites in Parramatta in line with the implementation of the Parramatta Regional Environment Plan; and the provision of skills audits, support and financial counselling services for retrenched workers from the Oakdale Colliery. The Action Plan was finalised early in 1999 and distributed to relevant agencies and community groups. It includes a commitment to on-going whole-of-government co-ordination and covers a wide range of actions designed to ensure community safety and active policing of unlawful behaviour and to improve police/community/youth relations.

1999-2000 INITIATIVE	OUTCOME
The Infrastructure Coordination Unit aims to achieve a more co-ordinated and efficient delivery of government infrastructure in the State. In Western Sydney, the Unit has allocated an experienced planning professional to work with Liverpool City Council to plan for and coordinate the release of lands and to plan for coordinated services delivery in major growth areas surrounding Liverpool.	Measures underway include: <ul style="list-style-type: none"> ◆ the implementation of intensive and proactive policing strategies; ◆ the appointment of additional Youth Liaison and Ethnic Community Liaison positions in the NSW Police Service; ◆ funding of a Police and Community Together project to help build links with ethnic communities; ◆ funding of a Youth Crime Prevention Officer with the emphasis on prevention and early intervention; ◆ prevention of crime committed by young people and the rehabilitation of juvenile offenders; ◆ improved support for parents and families through the development of culturally and religiously appropriate strategies; ◆ additional resources for schools to ensure students who are at risk of leaving school early receive additional assistance, including additional English as a second language programs and literacy and numeracy programs; and ◆ establishment of a multi-purpose facility for young people in the Bankstown area; The Department of Community Services provided $30,000 to employ a Youth Development Officer in partnership with Canterbury Council and $32,000 to achieve action plan outcomes. The Safer Communities Development Fund administered by the Attorney General's Department has provided financial support to Fairfield, Canterbury and Bankstown Councils under the Safer Towns and Cities grants for the development of local Crime Prevention Plans. The Unit has a contracted Place Manager in Western Sydney, co-located with Liverpool City Council, who is planning for the co-ordinated release of lands and services delivery in the major growth area of Edmondson Park. The Unit sponsored the 2000 Western Sydney Industry Awards to the value of $5,000.

1999-2000 INITIATIVE	OUTCOME
Transport In 1999-2000, it is estimated that $21.5 million will be spent on the posting of security guards on every CityRail train from 7pm until the service closes each night. Surveillance cameras are being installed on 4,000 government and private buses. The $1 State Rail and State Transit Pensioner Excursion Ticket Scheme allows pensioners to be provided with unlimited travel on CityRail services and most State Transit Authority services on the day of purchase.	Security guards have been posted on every CityRail train after 7.00 pm at a cost of $20 million in 1999-2000. Surveillance cameras being installed in metropolitan buses are designed to act as a deterrent to crimes against both drivers and passengers. This Scheme is demand based. Pensioner Excursion Tickets have been available to New South Wales pensioners and seniors throughout 1999-2000. The scheme enables people, including pensioners and people with special needs to access transport services as required.
Roads and Traffic Authority <ul style="list-style-type: none"> ◆ As part of the Government's Western Sydney Roads and Transport Program, works exceeding $160 million have been programmed for 1999-2000. Major construction projects under the program are: ◆ $26 million on the construction of the Liverpool to Parramatta Bus only Transitway; ◆ $7.5 million on a new railway overbridge on Horsley Drive at Carramar; ◆ $9.8 million to widen Castlereagh Road from Jane Street, Penrith to the Penrith Lakes; 	The Transitway project is estimated to cost $200 million and is scheduled to be completed in 2003. $19.5 million will be expended in 1999-2000. The Environmental Impact Statement is nearing finalisation and will be displayed shortly. Expressions of Interest have been received and are being assessed. The 3 kilometre section of Transitway between North Liverpool Road and Edensor Road, Bonnyrigg has been completed. The new railway overbridge will provide improved capacity and a reduction in delays at the River Avenue intersection. Construction commenced in August 1999 and bridge girders were erected in December 1999. Construction of reinforced earth walls and earthworks are nearing completion. $9.5 million will be spent in 1999-2000. Upgrading of Castlereagh Road from 2 undivided lanes to 4 divided lanes, includes the construction of roundabouts at Coreen Avenue and Andrews Road and traffic signals at Peachtree Avenue and Lugard Street. $12 million will be spent in 1999-2000.

1999-2000 INITIATIVE	OUTCOME
<ul style="list-style-type: none"> ◆ $6 million to widen Old Windsor Road; ◆ $5.3 million to widen Cowpasture Road from Restwell Road to the Horsley Drive; and ◆ $5 million to widen Elizabeth Drive between Cabramatta Road and Cowpasture Road. 	The State Government has committed $200 million to the reconstruction of the Old Windsor/Windsor Road corridor to improve safety, access and traffic flow at the intersection of Old Windsor Road, Balmoral Road and Miami Street. The section from Sunnyholt Road to Balmoral Road/Miami Street was opened to traffic in December 1999. Work is currently underway at the Schofields Road intersection. Planning has commenced on the provision of a flood free route at South Creek, South Windsor. $12.8 million will be spent in 1999-2000. Work is to be completed by 2008. $4.3 million will be spent in 1999-2000 and work was completed in April 2000. Contract documents for construction of noise walls are being prepared for tender and construction of an off-road cycleway between The Horsley Drive and Elizabeth Drive is in progress. $7.3 million will be spent in 1999-2000. The west bound carriageway between Smithfield and Wilson Roads was completed in May 2000. Construction of an off-road cycleway between Cowpasture Road and Bonnyrigg High School is in progress.
Fair Trading and Consumer Protection The Department of Fair Trading commenced the Home Building Grants Program in 1999. Approved grants offering benefit to Western Sydney under the inaugural 1999-2000 Program total $250,000. $1.05 million in funding will be provided for the Residential Tenancies Tribunal in Western Sydney in 1999-2000. $415,000 will be spent in 1999-2000 on the Tenancy Advice and Advocacy Program through the Western Sydney Tenants Service located at Harris Park and the South West Tenants Advice Service at Liverpool.	In 1999-2000, $186,000 was allocated to two organisations in Western Sydney, Building Apprentices Training Limited at Lidcombe ($150,000) and the Housing Industry Association at Parramatta ($36,000). Western Sydney received 55 per cent of the total project expenditure of $350,000 for the Home Building Program. Of the 45,000 applications received State-wide during 1999-2000, 30 per cent were received from Western Sydney. The Tribunal hears applications in Penrith, Blacktown, Campbelltown, Liverpool and Katoomba. In 1999-2000, 5,173 applications were heard at Penrith, 2,702 at Blacktown and 3,449 at Campbelltown. The estimated expenditure for 1999-2000 is $970,000. Funding for the Tenants Advice and Advocacy Program in 1999-2000 in Western Sydney was just over $423,000. Tenants Services located at Harris Park and Liverpool provided information, advice and advocacy services to tenants in Western Sydney as well as community education seminars on tenancy issues and law.

1999-2000 INITIATIVE	OUTCOME
Financial Counselling will continue to be provided to the people of Western Sydney by the Government in 1999-2000, with more than $296,000 allocated. Approximately $20,000 will be spent on advertising campaigns in 1999-2000, to reach Western Sydney audiences, under the Register of Encumbered Vehicles Program. The annual operating budget for the Fair Trading Centres at Penrith, Blacktown, Liverpool and Parramatta is $3.4 million in 1999-2000.	Funding for financial counselling services is made up of two components: the Credit Counselling Program (CCP) which is funded by the Government and administered by the Department of Fair Trading and the NSW Financial Counselling Trust Fund (FCTF). Nearly $311,000 in funding for financial counselling and community education in Western Sydney in 1999-2000 comprised: <ul style="list-style-type: none"> ◆ Bankstown Family Support ($17,160); ◆ Christian Community Aid Service ($34,100); ◆ CreditLine at Penrith ($41,750), at Hawkesbury ($16,000) and at Quakers Hill ($16,000); ◆ The Salvation Army: $24,960 at Mt Druitt and $24,000 at Parramatta; ◆ Sydney City Mission Campbelltown ($24,000); ◆ Campbelltown Community Legal Centre ($22,000); ◆ CreditLine at Fairfield ($51,500) and at Macarthur ($15,500); and ◆ Sydney City Mission at Green Valley ($24,000). During 1999-2000, $12,000 was expended to specifically promote the Program in Western Sydney community-based ethnic newspapers and radio. Languages covered were Arabic, Lebanese, Chinese, Vietnamese and Spanish. The allocation for these Centres in 1999-2000 was nearly $3.7 million. The Centres provide information and assistance on the full range of services offered by the Department of Fair Trading including access to business names registration, building licenses, lodgement of Residential Tribunal and Fair Trading Tribunal applications and the Register of Encumbered Vehicles Program services. The Penrith Fair Trading Centre also operates a call centre that has responded to approximately 719,140 inquiries (up to the end of January 2000), since opening in September 1997.

1999-2000 INITIATIVE	OUTCOME
Justice Remote Witness Closed Circuit TV facilities, successfully implemented at 59 courthouses throughout New South Wales, are to be extended to Western Sydney. $205,000 will be spent State-wide on this program in 1999-2000. A NSW Drug Court has been established in Parramatta on a two year trial basis. The Attorney General's Department will be providing expenditure in 1999-2000 in the order of $1.2 million. In 1999-2000, the budget for Community Justice Centres in Western Sydney at Bankstown, Campbelltown and Penrith will be $1.5 million.	Closed Circuit TV is now located in 62 courthouses throughout the State, including courthouses in Western Sydney at Bankstown, Blacktown, Campbelltown, Fairfield, Lidcombe, Liverpool, Parramatta and Penrith. The first year of the two year Drug Court trial has been completed. An evaluation of the trial will be undertaken upon completion. A proposal for extending the trial is currently being considered. Community Justice Centres (CJC) have been very effective in supporting an early intervention approach to community conflict. In Western Sydney, 1,103 files were opened, of which 381 matters were resolved through mediation. CJC has a memorandum of understanding with the Local courts which results in more matters before the courts being referred for mediation.
Emergency Services During 1999-2000, the Hawkesbury-Nepean Floodplain Management Strategy will continue. $58.3 million has been allocated to the strategy for the five years 1998-99 to 2002-03, plus $1 million per annum thereafter.	Funds to develop and implement strategies to address the risk from flooding are being allocated only from the New South Wales Government, despite continued pressure on the Commonwealth to provide funding to address major flood risks in Western Sydney. During 1999-2000 the Department of Land and Water Conservation continued the development of the Floodplain Management Study for the Hawkesbury-Nepean Area as part of the implementation of the Floodplain Management Strategy. Funds were provided as follows: $1.3 million for completion of the study; $5 million for evacuation route upgrade of Londonderry Road, completion of the Agnes Bank Deviation, the Pitt Town evacuation route and upgrades in the Llandilo area including The Northern Road; $1.6 million for flood emergency planning; and $500,000 for a public awareness program. Western Sydney floodplain projects undertaken in 1999-2000 include: <ul style="list-style-type: none"> ◆ Haslams Creek management study, Auburn $40,000;

1999-2000 INITIATIVE	OUTCOME
In Western Sydney, allocations will be provided in 1999-2000, through the Rural Fire Fighting Fund, to the local government councils. In 1999-2000, $5 million is to be provided State-wide for the purchase of new fire tankers.	<ul style="list-style-type: none"> ◆ Lower Parramatta River management study, Parramatta $80,000; ◆ Milperra voluntary purchase, Bankstown $250,000; ◆ Milperra Drain flood mitigation works, Bankstown $80,000; ◆ East Hills flood mitigation works, Bankstown $320,000; ◆ Camden management study $50,000; ◆ Campbelltown flood mitigation works $400,000; ◆ Prospect Creek flood mitigation works, Fairfield $650,000; ◆ Lower Cabramatta Creek management study, Liverpool $40,000; ◆ Lower Cabramatta Creek flood mitigation works, Fairfield $100,000; ◆ Upper Prospect Creek flood mitigation works, Fairfield $40,000; ◆ Lower Prospect Creek flood mitigation works, Fairfield $100,000; ◆ Lansvale voluntary purchase, Fairfield $60,000; ◆ Hawkesbury flood mitigation maintenance $11,200; ◆ South Creek flood mitigation, Liverpool $200,000; and ◆ Moorebank voluntary purchase, Liverpool $300,000. In 1999-2000, more than $8.5 million of Rural Fire Fighting Fund moneys was allocated to councils in Western Sydney. $23.6 million was provided State-wide for the purchase of fire tankers. Vehicles were provided to Baulkham Hills, Blue Mountains, Campbelltown, Hawkesbury, Liverpool, Penrith and Wollondilly Councils.

1999-2000 INITIATIVE	OUTCOME
Survey Services The Surveyor-General will spend $300,000 in 1999-2000 in the first stage of a two year program which will provide new edition topographic maps and digital information for Western Sydney. A further $500,000 will be provided for digital subdivision and boundary mapping that will facilitate planning and land management in Western Sydney.	The first of the new edition topographic maps for Western Sydney will be available in June 2000. Almost 19,000 new land parcels have been added to the digital subdivision and boundary mapping database for Western Sydney. The quality of the database has also been improved. The accuracy of the coordinates of all the survey control marks in the Penrith local government area has been upgraded. This is the first area in the State to have this work completed.
Waterways Under the Waterways Authority's Waterways Asset Development and Management Program, $59,000 will be provided to Penrith City Council to assist in the upgrade of boating facilities at Trench Reserve.	Penrith City Council has requested that this grant be deferred until 2000-2001. Council plans to invite tenders for the project at the end of 2000 at a time of less demand for marine and piling work.
Industrial Relations The Government will be allocating $1.8 million to support industrial relations services in 1999-2000 through Contact Centres located in Parramatta and Bankstown.	Each year, both Contact Centres resolve some two thousand individual industrial complaints lodged by workers in relation to outstanding workplace entitlements.
OLYMPICS BUDGET – WESTERN SYDNEY ◆ Sydney International Equestrian Centre, Horsley Park	The Government has contributed approximately $318 million on the construction of Western Sydney Olympic and Paralympic sporting facilities. The Centre was completed in September 1999. The site consists of more than 25 kilometres of endurance roads and tracks, steeplechase and galloping tracks and a cross country course with 42 jumps. It can be adapted for a wide range of equestrian events, from dressage to rodeo and can be used for concerts, conventions and community functions. In addition to the Olympic facility, a large community park has been established for the enjoyment of the Western Sydney community.

1999-2000 INITIATIVE	OUTCOME
<ul style="list-style-type: none"> ◆ Sydney International Shooting Centre, Liverpool 	The facility, opened in October 1999, will leave a legacy for the sport of shooting for local, national and international competitions.
<ul style="list-style-type: none"> ◆ Blacktown Olympic Centre – Softball Centre, Second Baseball Venue and Athletic Training Facilities 	Blacktown Olympic Centre, completed in January 2000 at a total cost of $31 million, will be a permanent sporting legacy for Western Sydney. The venue will become the home of NSW Softball and the prime training and competition venue for all grades of softball players. Some $23 million was incurred in 1999-2000 in completing this project.
<ul style="list-style-type: none"> ◆ Dunc Gray Velodrome, Bankstown 	The Velodrome was completed in November 1999 and hosted its first event, the Oceania International Cycling Grand Prix in December 1999. The facility will also be used for concerts, exhibitions, banquets and indoor sports such as volleyball, indoor hockey, badminton and basketball.
<ul style="list-style-type: none"> ◆ Penrith Whitewater Stadium, Penrith Lakes 	The canoe course was opened in October 1999. After the Games, the course will provide a permanent venue for national and international competitors as well as providing a safe whitewater experience and a valuable facility for school training camps, functions, corporate days and family outings.
<ul style="list-style-type: none"> ◆ Media Village 	The Media Village is being located on the former Lidcombe Hospital site and will accommodate 6,000 media representatives during the Games. Over $37 million is being expended in 1999-2000 and the project will be completed in mid 2000.
Homebush Bay
<ul style="list-style-type: none"> ◆ Sydney SuperDome 	This facility, completed in August 1999, will be used as the Olympic venue for basketball finals and artistic gymnastics and the Paralympic venue for basketball. The NSW Government contributed $142 million toward the total cost of the project.
<ul style="list-style-type: none"> ◆ Athletes' Village 	Construction of the Village at the Newington site is expected to be completed in June 2000. After the Games, further staged residential construction for an estimated 5,000 people will be undertaken.

1999-2000 INITIATIVE	OUTCOME
◆ Millennium Parklands ◆ NSW Tennis Centre ◆ Site Remediation ◆ Roads and Parking Transport The Olympic Roads and Transport Authority has been established to co-ordinate the planning and delivery of Transport services during the Olympic and Paralympic Games.	Work is continuing at the parklands that involves land remediation, major landscaping and the provision of a network of cycle routes and footpaths. Millennium Parklands will have great sporting and recreational facilities and will provide a high standard environmental and educational legacy. Some $8 million has been expended in 1999-2000. The Tennis Centre was completed in December 1999. The venue will be used as Tennis NSW headquarters, as a club facility, for public court hire, as a venue for future State, national and international test events, for sports development and training and as a venue for other sports and events. $16 million has been spent during 1999-2000. The Earth Council's February 2000 review of the Environmental Performance of the Olympic Co-ordination Authority states that important results have been achieved in remediating soil, commencing the treatment of scheduled chemical wastes and pioneering the study and protection of ecological systems and regeneration of natural areas. After eight years of closure, most of Wilson Park at Silverwater will reopen to the public by the end of this year. When completed the park will include pedestrian pathways, playing and cricket fields and picnic areas. Wilson Park is a 12 hectare recreation area on the Parramatta River, linked along the river frontage to Homebush Bay. The park was closed by Auburn Council following evidence of past pollution left behind by an oil processing plant. Bio remediation, the method chosen to clean up the park, provides a natural solution to environmental problems, combining techniques of pollution containment, active remediation of contaminated groundwater and the clean up of sub surface soil contamination. All internal roads, bus ways, footpaths, cycle ways, carparks and landscaping were completed in 1999. Residents of Bankstown, Auburn and the Hills District were provided with cross-regional bus services to the 2000 Royal Easter Show and a number of other designated Special Events. To facilitate easy access to buses for the travelling public, Park and Ride facilities, incorporating special car parks in close proximity to the Regional Bus Services, were provided for those events.